BOSTON COLLEGE POST-GRADUATION PLANS SURVEY CLASS OF 2016

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The purpose of the Boston College Post-Graduation Plans Survey is to track recent graduates' future plans via topics such as their primary activity six months post-graduation, employment industries, the timing of offers and starting salary information, graduate school enrollment by program, degree, and institution, and the organizations where recent graduates choose to volunteer, among other areas.

Serving as partners in this data collection effort, the Career Center and Institutional Research, Planning & Assessment have utilized a variety of resources to supplement information gathered via the traditional survey administration process, resulting in a set of information collected from graduating seniors that provides valuable data for faculty, administrators, and employers to better serve students in their career-planning activities. The survey administration process, and methods in which the data are reported, both conform to the guidelines put forth by the National Association of Colleges and Employers, the leading resource for information on post-graduation plans, hiring forecasts, job market trends and employment-related best practices and benchmarks.

Survey administration and data collection

- The survey was administered online from April 2016 through December 2016 to all members of the undergraduate Class of 2016.
- Data from LinkedIn, The National Student Clearinghouse, and internal Boston College sources (e.g., exit survey data from Athletics, the schools of Education and Management, University Advancement) were compiled to supplement survey data.
- Input was collected for 1,890 students (82.3% of the total Class of 2016).

Survey highlights

- Like the Class of 2015 more than nine of out 10 members of the Class of 2016 (96%) indicated that they are working, attending graduate school, volunteering, engaging in a fellowship or post-graduation internship, or serving in the U.S. military.
- The median salary reported by members of the Class of 2016 is $57,000 with the middle 50% of students reporting salaries between $44,000 and $70,000.

- A broad range of industries is represented for those respondents who are employed and included areas such as financial services, healthcare, consulting, accounting, computer software, banking, education, law and legal services, retail, media and communications, advertising and related services, scientific research, and entertainment.
- While a majority of graduates are employed in the Northeast, all regions of the United States are represented across 33 states as well as a variety of international destinations such as Canada, China, Columbia, Czech Republic, Guatemala, Honduras, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Japan, Puerto Rico, South Korea, Spain, Turkey, and the United Kingdom.
- Nearly two-thirds (63.6%) of graduates used more than one resource to secure their positions. Top resources included: EagleLink on-campus interviews (41.9%), career fairs at BC (37.7%), and networking through BC (37.3%).
- Being “interested in the field” was the most-often cited factor (78.7%) influencing post-graduate plans. Likely contributors to the planning process were students’ experiences while at BC, which included volunteering (82.0%), interning (79.5%), working on campus (66.6%), and studying abroad (58.1%).
- Nearly one-fifth (17.8%) of survey respondents indicated that they are pursuing a graduate degree as their primary activity after graduation. Of those attending graduate school, approximately two-thirds (67.3%) are pursuing Master’s degrees and 11.8% are pursuing law degrees.
- For those students who are volunteering after their graduation from BC, over a third (35.2%) are serving with the Jesuit Volunteer Corps. Class of 2016 graduates are also volunteering with a host of other service organizations, both domestic and international.
- Trends since 2012 demonstrate an increase in the number of students pursuing employment after graduation. That is, for the Class of 2012, 61.0% reported employment after graduation versus 70.3% for the Class of 2016. However, trends since 2012 demonstrate a decrease in the number of students pursuing graduate school after graduation. Specifically, 23.3% of the Class of 2012 reported they plan to attend graduate school as their activity post-BC, compared to 17.8% for the Class of 2016.

RESPONSE RATES BY SOURCE AND SCHOOL

Data were collected for 82.3% of the Class of 2016 (1,890 students). While 51.0% responded to the online survey, data were collected for 31.3% via alternative methods, such as LinkedIn, The National Student Clearinghouse, and internal sources.

PRIMARY ACTIVITY SIX MONTHS FOLLOWING GRADUATION

For the Class of 2016, 95.6% indicated that they are working, attending graduate school, volunteering, engaging in a fellowship or post-graduation internship, or serving in the U.S. military; the distribution of post-graduation statuses, however, varied substantially among schools. A total of 70.3% of respondents reported that they are working for pay full-time (68.9%) or part-time (1.4%). Graduates from the Carroll School of Management are the most likely to be working for pay (89.2%), followed by graduates from the Connell School of Nursing (81.0%). About one-fifth of graduates from the Morrissey College of Arts & Sciences and almost 40% from the Lynch School of Education are enrolled in graduate school. Further, 7.2% of Lynch School of Education graduates report that they are volunteering.

ACTIVITIES PURSUED WHILE AT BC

The broad range of activities in which Class of 2016 members participated during the course of their undergraduate experience helped to provide direction as to their post-graduate plans. Of the graduates who responded to the survey, the majority engaged in community service (82.0%), completed at least one internship (79.5%), worked on campus (66.6%), and/or studied abroad (58.1%) while enrolled at BC. Noteworthy is that most students (57.3%) participated in two or more of the listed activities. Over a third (37.1%) of students engaged in three or more community service activities and nearly a quarter (24.4%) completed three or more internships.

Note: Percentages are based on respondents who selected at least one “setting” for at least one “skill/ability”. Missing data are excluded from this analysis. Overall, about 83.3% of survey participants responded to this item.

TOP FACTORS INFLUENCING PLANS

Several factors influential to students' post-grad plans were cited by survey respondents. Of those who responded to this item, the factor selected by the highest proportion of survey respondents was "interested in the field" (78.7%), followed by "career advancement potential" (52.7%). Personal relationships and location were also noted as being influential to seniors' decision-making processes.

RESOURCES USED TO OBTAIN CURRENT POSITION

Over one-third of the employed survey respondents who answered this question indicated that they found their position through EagleLink on-campus interviews (41.9%). In general, a greater proportion of Carroll School of Management graduates used more than one of the listed resources to obtain their current position compared to graduates of the other three schools. Noteworthy is over half (63.6%) of graduates reported using more than one resource to obtain their current position. On average, graduates used about three of the listed resources.

GEOGRAPHIC LOCATION OF EMPLOYED GRADUATES

While the majority of respondents reported employment in the Northeast, all areas of the United States were represented by survey respondents. Compared to previous years, a slight decrease in international destinations was noted, with graduates citing employment in Canada, China, Columbia, Czech Republic, Guatemala, Honduras, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Japan, Puerto Rico, South Korea, Spain, Turkey, and the United Kingdom. Overall, there was similar geographic diversity this year compared to last year.

MILITARY SERVICE

A total of seven students indicated they are serving in the U.S. military after graduation. Service branches include the Air Force, Army and Navy.

SUMMARY

The proportion of BC graduates who are employed post-graduation has increased by more than ten percentage points since 2010. Conversely, the percent enrolling in graduate school has been gradually decreasing over the last several years. The proportion of graduates whose primary first post-graduation activity is volunteering has decreased from a decade high of 6.6% for the Class of 2010 to 2.9% for the Class of 2016. Changes in the macro economy including the availability of jobs over the past several years have likely contributed to these changes.
