WELCOME

Welcome and congratulations to the incoming Class of 2003, as well as to our newly admitted transfer and visiting students. We hope that you have enjoyed your summer and are ready to devote yourself to your legal education.

The Law School is committed to fostering a humane environment while recognizing the rigors of a high quality and demanding educational program. This spirit of supportive community, sought by the administration and entire Law School, is based upon the conviction that the lawyer must be a collaborator as well as a competitor, a peacemaker as well as an adversary.

Your Boston College Law School experience will not be "painless." As at any first-rate law school, you will feel the pressure of the workload and the demands of engaging in intellectually challenging courses. We try to maintain an academically competitive law school, while making every effort to ensure that this competitiveness does not adversely affect our students. It is a delicate balance and we ask your assistance in maintaining our community environment.

THE LAW SCHOOL

Established in 1929, the Law School is one of 13 schools, colleges, and institutes which comprise Boston College. Founded as a small Jesuit liberal arts college in 1863, Boston College today enrolls more than 14,000 students at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

The Law School has been located on Boston College's Newton campus since 1975. This campus covers approximately 40 acres and is less than two miles from the Chestnut Hill campus. Stuart House is the main Law School building, featuring classrooms, the Henry E. Foley Courtroom, faculty and administrative offices, the faculty library, seminar rooms, some clinical program offices, student organization offices, and the offices of the five Law School publications. The Smith Wing contains student organization offices, the Bookstore, a snack bar, and student lockers. The East Wing opened in January, 1999, houses the Career Services office and resource library, five classrooms, a student lounge, faculty offices and the John J. Curtin, Jr. and Mary Daly Curtain Public Interest Center. The Law Library is connected to the East Wing via internal connectors.

STUDENT SERVICES ATHLETIC FACILITIES

All law students are eligible to participate in the athletic program and facilities of the University. Law students with a Boston College ID card may purchase memberships at the Recreation Complex Membership office. The student membership fee will be $230 annually (summer included), $200 for the 2000-2001 academic year, $110 per semester, or $5 per visit.

The recreation complex, located on Boston College's Chestnut Hill campus, has facilities for basketball, nautilus, universal, indoor track, tennis, racquetball, volleyball, squash, handball, swimming, and diving. The complex also offers a sauna and whirlpool; aerobics classes; and instruction in tennis, squash, and fencing.

Members may reserve a court for tennis, handball, racquetball, and squash one day in advance by signing up in person at the recreation complex front desk. Same-day reservations may be placed in person or by phone at 552-3035.

The recreation complex hours are:

Monday-Friday	6:00 a.m. - 10:45 p.m.
Saturday	9:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m. (closed day of football home games)
Sunday	9:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m.

Quonset Hut (Gym)

Use of the basketball courts, cardiovascular machines, Lifecycles, Stairmasters, free weights, and locker rooms in the Quonset Hut on the Newton campus is free with a Boston College ID card. For further details about this facility, call Chris Darcy at the Boston College University Housing Office, at 552-4716.

BANKING SERVICES

A Fleet/CIRRUS/NYCE 24-hour automatic teller machine is located on the Newton campus near the dining hall. This machine is accessible to Fleet customers as well as to any card holder linked to the CIRRUS/NYCE network. Students with a Boston College ID card can cash checks at the Cashier's Office in More Hall, on the Chestnut Hill campus, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday to Friday. There is a $50 limit per day and a 50c per check fee for this service. Any questions can be directed to 552-3367.

BOOKSTORE

The Law School Bookstore located on the Newton campus, is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. It is located on the basement level between the locker area and the stairs to the former Kenny Cottle library. Managed by Joan Curran, the bookstore carries all required texts ordered by the faculty, as well as some of the more popular study aids. Also available are school supplies, paperback novels, newspapers (The Boston Globe and The New York Times), magazines, greeting cards, health and beauty aids, candy and soda, plus a variety of Boston College Law School gift items and clothing. In addition, Boston College has a more extensive (non-law) bookstore on the Chestnut Hill Campus in McElroy Commons (552-3520).

The bookstore does not carry used textbooks; however, the Law Students Association operates a used book co-op, and many students also post lists of books they wish to sell on the bulletin boards.

BUS SCHEDULE

A free shuttle bus provides regular service between the Law School, the Chestnut Hill lower campus, and Cleveland Circle. Bus schedules will be available. Changes in the bus schedule will be posted on the bulletin boards and will appear in The Counselor. As with any other bus company, there are occasional delays and breakdowns. When relying on the shuttle, please leave ample time to get to class.

CAREER SERVICES

The Law School maintains an Office of Career Services in Room 210 (552-4345) of the East Wing. The office is committed to providing comprehensive career services to all students. These services include helping students to explore their career goals and interests, to develop realistic expectations about the legal job market, to prepare for the job search process, and to identify opportunities for summer or permanent employment.

During the year, representatives of law firms, government agencies, corporations, and public interest organizations visit the Law School to interview first, second, and third year students. Many additional employers post notices of their position vacancies with the office.

In addition to individual career planning sessions, the office offers workshops on writing resumes and cover letters and on developing effective interviewing skills. It also sponsors panel discussions on careers in the law and in law-related fields.

Every effort is made to assist each student in making career choices consistent with his/her values which will offer the greatest prospects for a satisfying professional life.

The office maintains a career resource library. It includes books, directories, and periodicals on a wide range of legal employers including law firms, government agencies, corporations, legal services, public interest organizations, academia, and judicial clerkships. It also includes general career information, government application forms, city information, and telephone directories. Computerized databases on volunteer internship opportunities (PBSA), law firms in New England and New York, New England corporations, Massachusetts government and public interest organizations and an Alumni Career Network are also available. The Career Services website is www.bc.edu/bclscareer.

CATHOLIC MASS ON CAMPUS

A daily Catholic Mass is held Mondays through Fridays at 12:20 p.m. in the Loft Chapel of the Holy Trinity Chapel on the Newton campus. Other times for Masses are posted on the bulletin board and announced in The Counselor. On Sundays, a general Mass is held in the Main Church of the Holy Trinity Chapel at 9:00 p.m., and a Mass for law students is held at 5:00 p.m. in the Loft Chapel. Catholic Masses also are celebrated in St. Ignatius near the Chestnut Hill campus.

CHILD CARE

Boston College Child Care is the University-sponsored child care program, located in the Haley Carriage House on the Chestnut Hill campus. The center provides a high-quality preschool education curriculum and extended day care for children ages 2 years and 9 months through 5 years. The program serves children of employees, faculty, and graduate students, and is open Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The center's staff and curriculum support a developmental approach to learning, with activities designed to foster the physical, emotional, social, and cognitive growth of young children. Enrollment is limited, and those interested are encouraged to call Barbara Krakowsky immediately at 552-3356 for information regarding tuition and registration materials.

COUNSELING SERVICES

Dean for Students Norah Wylie is available to counsel students on a range of issues. Any student with a question, problem or concern is welcome to talk to Dean Wylie (552-4492). Her office is located in Stuart M305A. In addition, University Counseling Services staff are available to all full-time graduate students. Appointments can be made on weekdays from 9:00 a.m. - 4:45 p.m. in person or by telephone. Call 552-3310 to schedule your first appointment. Staff members and locations are as follows:

- Gasson Hall Room 108, 552-3310

Counselors:

Thomas P. McGuinness, Director
 David John Smith, Senior Staff Psychologist
 John P. Hennessy, Coordinator, Office for Students with

Emergency problems requiring immediate attention may be discussed with the on-call psychologist. In such emergencies the psychologist may be reached through the Health Services Clinic, 552-3225, or the Newton Campus Infirmary, 552-3228. The on-campus counseling services provide the following services without any charge to the student concerned:

- Emergency consultation and crisis intervention (available at any time if necessary);
- Short-term psychotherapy and/or counseling to assist students over a psychologically difficult period;
- Non-emergency consultation and evaluation on an appointment basis;
- Follow-up and back-up service.

The on-campus counseling services will assist law students in obtaining psychotherapy of a long-term, didactic, or elective nature or as part of a treatment program entered into or recommended prior to enrollment at Boston College. The cost of this particular treatment would be the responsibility of the student.

DRUG-FREE WORKPLACE POLICY STATEMENT:

Following the enactment of the Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988, Boston College issued a policy statement applicable to all employees, including work-study recipients.

In striving to maintain a drug-free workplace, Boston College prohibits the unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession, or use of a controlled substance (both illegal drugs and unauthorized use of prescription drugs) in and on University-owned or controlled property. Any Boston College employee determined to have violated this policy may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

All employees engaged in the performance of work under a federal contract or grant who are convicted of any drug-related criminal offense occurring in the workplace are required to notify the Office of Human Resources no later five days following conviction.

The University's Faculty/Staff Assistance Program offers a drug awareness program, as well as information regarding the availability of professional drug abuse counseling, consultation, and referral. Employees of the University who have concerns about substance abuse or dependency are encouraged to use the resources of the Faculty/Staff Assistance Program. This service is confidential.

The employment of those engaged in the performance of work under a federal contract or grant is conditioned on their willingness to abide by the terms of this policy.

FINANCIAL AID

The Law School financial aid assistant and counselor are housed on the Newton Campus. Any questions pertaining to the funding of a law school education should be directed to the Financial Aid Office. If a staff member is unavailable, all questions can be referred to the Student Services Office on the Chestnut Hill campus.

Boston College offers a variety of assistance programs to help law students finance their education. In addition to the federal programs

(which include the Federal Stafford Loan Program, the Federal Perkins Loan Program, and the Federal College Work-Study Program), the Law School also has grant, scholarship, and low-interest loan funds available. Each year, students must file a complete financial aid applica

Each year, students must file a complete financial aid application to be considered for these funds. All financial aid is administered through Boston College Law School's Financial Aid Office and is based on need. Funds are awarded on a first-come, first-served basis and may be used to finance the cost of tuition and living expenses. Throughout the academic year, important financial aid notices (such as dates, deadlines, and outside scholarship opportunities) are published on a weekly basis in The Counselor on the Law School's website. In extreme emergency situations during the school year, students should see Norah Wylie, Dean for Students; or Elizabeth Rosselot, Director of Admissions and Financial Aid.

FOOD SERVICES

The University provides the Law School with a dining hall, snack bar, and vending machine area, as well as a Seattle's Best counter that is open weekdays from 7:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. The dining hall is open to all students on either a cash or meal-ticket basis. Meal tickets are available in Stuart House F208, 552-4432, between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. or through the Meal Plan Office, Lyons Hall, at 552-3525. Dining hall hours are as follows:

HEALTH SERVICES

The University Health Services provides confidential medical/nursing care and educational programs to safeguard the physical well-being and mental health of the student body. The Department has two units: a clinic located in Cushing Hall on the Chestnut Hill campus and a 20-bed infirmary located in Keyes House South on the Newton campus. The services include a walk-in clinic, as well as medical, surgical, gynecological, orthopedic, nutrition, physical therapy, allergy, and immunization clinics. The inpatient infirmary is open 24 hours when school is in session.

Graduate students may become eligible for on-campus medical care by signing up at the University Health Services Office in Cushing Hall, Room 119. The health/infirmary fee will then be charged to their account.

The health/infirmary fee for medical care on campus is not a substitute for a health insurance policy. Massachusetts law requires that all full-time university students be covered by an accident and sickness insurance policy so that protection may be assured if hospitalization or other costly outside medical services are needed. Insurance information is available at University Health Services Office, Cushing Hall Room 119.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Massachusetts law requires that all students be covered by a comprehensive health insurance policy. For those who do not already carry such insurance, Boston College provides a policy offered by Walter W. Sussenguth and Associates, 120 Royall St., Canton, MA 02021, (781) 828-7000, X445 or X451; toll free 1-800-669-BOMU (outside 617 or 781 area codes).

This insurance provides payment for hospitalization, special medical tests or treatments, and emergency room or ambulance use. The cost of this insurance plan for a student is $470 ($200 for the fall and $270 for the spring). Additional coverage (for spouse or children) can be arranged with the insurance carrier.

A recent amendment to Massachusetts law requires that all full-time students born after 1957 show proof of immunization against measles (two doses required), mumps, rubella, diphtheria, and tetanus (required within ten years). Students who fail to provide adequate documentation of immunization will not be permitted to register and attend classes. The only exceptions are when immunizations conflict with personal religious belief or when a physician documents that immunizations should not be given because of pre-existing medical problems. Students with questions regarding immunization should call University Health Services at 552-3225.

IDENTIFICATION CARDS AND PICTURE BOOK PHOTOS

A Boston College I.D. card is necessary to check books out of the library and entitles students to discounts on campus athletic, social, and cultural events. It is also helpful at any events at which liquor is served or as identification when cashing checks. To receive an I.D. card, students should have followed the instructions provided in the summer mailing packet; cards will be issued at the Law School orientation. A spouse also may obtain an I.D. from the Campus Police located at Rubenstein Hall. The student's spouse must bring the student's I.D. card for identification purposes to obtain an I.D. The I.D. entitles the spouse to the same discounts given to the student, as well as to membership in the recreation complex and use of the libraries.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

International students must meet all obligations of their particular visa card to legally remain in the United States. Students with questions should see the Assistant Dean for Student Development, Adrienne Nussbaum, in McElroy 114, 552-8005.

STUDENT LOUNGE

The Student Lounge on the first floor of the East Wing is available for relaxation and study breaks. The lounge contains vending machines, television sets, and comfortable seating. The lounge is not a designated study area. Students must respect the wishes of those who use the lounge to socialize and watch TV. Use of the Student Lounge by student organizations may be arranged through the Dean for Students office.

STUDENT MAILBOXES

Student mailboxes are for important communication among members of the Law School community. They are open boxes located in a public passageway outside the snack bar. Students are cautioned not to leave electronic equipment or other valuables in the student boxes. Mail delivered by the United States Postal Service should be addressed to the student at home rather than the Law School.

LAW LIBRARY

The Law Library contains approximately 395,000 volumes, including court reports and statutes for all federal and state jurisdictions, as well as a substantial collection of loose-leaf services, periodicals, treatises, and government documents. Most materials in the Law Library do not circulate and must be used in the building. Certain materials for courses and other items in heavy demand, such as hornbooks and basic treatises, are on reserve at the information desk. An ID must be presented to borrow these materials. The Law Library also is equipped for both LEXIS and WESTLAW. Students will be trained in use of these systems during their first year.

Items in the Library can be located by consulting the online catalogs located on all floors of the library. Further reference assistance is available Monday through Thursday, 9:00 a.m. - 8:30 p.m.; Friday, 9:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m., Saturday, 1:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.; and Sunday, 9:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m.

Within the Law Library are numerous group study rooms, audiovisual resource rooms, a computer center, and instructional research labs. Consult staff at the information desk about signing up for group study rooms and to use audiovisual resources.

The computer center, located in Room 300 of the Law Library, contains 28 workstations, both Mac and IBM, four laser printers, and a fax machine. The computer center is open to all Boston College Law School faculty, staff, and students. Seating is on a first come, first served basis. Students may use a computer work station for up to three hours (extended periods are allowed if there is no queue.) Each workstation is connected to the Boston College network and the Internet and is equipped with MS Word, MS Excel, MS PowerPoint, FileMaker Pro, LEXIS, WESTLAW, and Netscape. Students must save their work on a floppy disk. Floppy disks are available for purchase in the Bookstore. The laser printers are not to be used for multiple copies. The fax machine is available as a send-only resource. Local (area codes 617 and 781) fax transmissions are free; long distance fax transmissions may be sent with the use of a personal long distance calling card. Members of the community are also welcome to use the O'Neill computing facility located on Boston College's Chestnut Hill campus. That computing facility has more extensive hours than the law library's computer center.

Students with laptop computers may use them at library carrels and tables, except in the Rare Book Room and in designated quiet zones on Levels 3 and 4. Instructions for accessing the computer network from these locations can be found at www.bc.edu/bclscomputing.

The Law Library offers the following additional amenities: restrooms, water fountains, lounges, a message board near the information desk, and in the corridor outside the library a "law in the news" bulletin board plus inter-campus and pay telephones. Photocopiers are located on every floor of the library. The photocopiers accept both change (15 cents per copy for 8.5" x 11" copies, 20 cents for 11" x 17" copies) or copycards. Copycards may be purchased in varying amounts from a card machine dispenser. For $50.00, a copycard with an $83.40 value may be purchased Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Please inquire at the information desk. Copycards are very convenient, as the library staff does not provide change for the photocopiers.

Smoking and food are not permitted in the Library; beverages are acceptable in spill-proof mugs only. However, beverages are not permitted in the Computer Center, the computer assisted learning centers, and the Rare Book Room.

During the school year, the Library generally is open at the times listed below; the computer labs close 30 minutes before the Library closes. Hours will vary during holiday periods. Check the Law Library web page for a complete list of hours and exceptions. (www.bc.edu/lawlibrary)

Students seeking a different study environment may want to visit the O'Neill and/or Bapst Libraries on the Chestnut Hill campus. O'Neill is the main research library at Boston College, with a collection of over 1 million volumes. Bapst is a smaller, quieter library with a graduate study area located on the mezzanine level.

PARKING FACILITIES AND REGULATIONS

There are student-designated parking lots available on the Newton campus. Students must have a parking sticker to park in designated parking areas on the Newton campus. To avoid a trip to the Chestnut Hill campus, students should mail in the card received in their summer packet. Any student requiring a handicapped parking sticker should contact Kate Moran, Administrative Assistant to the Dean for Students, M301, 552-4342.

Student cars parked in fire lanes, in front of Stuart, on roadways, in handicapped spaces, in front of the loading dock, or impeding any access by emergency vehicles and in the faculty/staff parking lots will be towed. The only exception to the regulations is a vehicle displaying a proper handicapped permit. Anyone improperly parked will be towed. Faculty/staff parking spaces behind Stuart are clearly marked with yellow lines. Student parking is not permitted in the faculty/staff lot during working hours. In case of emergency, a one day pass for student parking can be obtained from the Dean's Office. Permission to park overnight on the Newton campus must be received from Campus Police (552-4440).

STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND ORGANIZATIONS

Law Students Association (LSA)

The Law Students Association (LSA) is an organization comprised of all Boston College law students. It is not affiliated with any groups outside Boston College Law School. The LSA is the voice of the student body and promotes students' interests through its elected representatives. Each year, each class elects a representative who serves as a member of the board of the Law Student Association (LSA). Each student pays an annual fee to fund LSA activities, which include a lecture series, social events, and support for a wide range of programs conducted by various student organizations. The LSA also assists in the orientation program for first-year students.

The following student organizations are currently active at the Law School:

Alternative Dispute Resolution Group

This student organization educates the Law School community regarding alternative dispute resolution methods, such as mediation and arbitration, and brings speakers to the campus to address these topics.

American Bar Association: Law Student Division

The American Bar Association: Law Student Division informs students about the work of the American Bar Association and issues of concern to the legal profession as a whole. The Law School chapter works with other campus organizations to bring speakers to the campus and provide legal experience outside of the classroom.

Arts, Media, Entertainment & Sports Law Society (AMES)

The Arts & Media Law Association is an organization for students interested in the areas of media, entertainment, publishing, and performing arts. The intent of the organization is to explore contemporary topics in the arts and media law fields through symposia and panels; to present programs pertaining to career opportunities in arts and media law; and to examine issues of cultural, economic, and political bias within arts and media institutions.

Asian Pacific American Law Students Association (APALSA)

The Asian Pacific American Law Students Association of Boston College was formally organized in 1975. Throughout the year, various members serve as law clerks in community projects and assist in Asian and Third World community affairs. APALSA has worked with Asian-American law students from other Boston law schools in planning joint activities, with the primary goal of encouraging Asian-Americans to enter the legal profession and serve their communities.

Association of Trial Lawyers of America

The Law School chapter of this national organization helps students develop trial advocacy skills.

BC Law for Life

This non-denominational group provides information to heighten awareness concerning abortion and promotes alternatives to unwanted pregnancies.

Black Law Students Association (BLSA)

The Black Law Students Association is an affiliate of the National Black Law Students Association. The organization focuses on alleviating the present critical shortage of African-American lawyers as well as on establishing an organizational base through which law students may assist the African-American community in meeting its immediate needs. The Association provides tutorials for first-year students and assists in the placement of African-American law students in the legal profession.

Board of Student Advisors (BSA)

The Board of Student Advisors is a self-governing service organization consisting of second and third-year students whose primary responsibilities are the organization and administration of the Wendell F. Grimes Moot Court and the Mock Trial, Negotiation, and Client Counseling Competitions.

Children's Rights Project

Students, who are members of this group, research domestic and international issues related to the legal rights of children. The organization also has presented panel discussions on topics concerning children and the law and has conducted a holiday toy drive for disadvantaged children.

Christian Legal Society

The Christian Legal Society is a non-denominational fellowship for law students seeking to learn more about the Bible. The organization holds weekly meetings to discuss religious and ethical concerns in the law.

Civil Liberties Union (CLU)

The Law School chapter of the Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts sponsors panels, speakers, and films to foster dialogue on constitutional rights, civil rights, and civil liberties issues. The chapter also coordinates lobbying and community service efforts.

Domestic Violence Outreach Project (DVOP)

This organization trains law students to inform victims of domestic violence of their legal rights and to represent them in obtaining temporary restraining orders. It raises funds for Boston-area shelters for battered women.

Environmental Law Society (ELS)

The Environmental Law Society serves as a resource for environmental organizations and informs the Law School community of environmental issues. Its members provide assistance to interested parties on environmental problems. The organization conducts a Winter Seminar Weekend in New Hampshire, runs a film series, and brings speakers to the Law School.

Federalist Society

The Law School chapter is part of the nationwide Federalist Society, an organization of conservatives, classical liberals, and libertarians. The chapter brings speakers on campus and sponsors events designed to foster individual liberty, limited government, and the rule of law. The Federalist Society also sponsors a blood drive.

The Owen M. Kupferschmid Holocaust/Human Rights Project (HHRP)

The Owen M. Kupferschmid Holocaust/Human Rights Project is an internationally focused organization examining the issues raised by the precedential value of the legal responses to the Holocaust for current instances of state-sponsored mass murders and other human rights abuses. The Project organizes international conferences to address specific legal issues related to the Holocaust and other human rights violations, conducts research, and funds summer positions in the human rights field.

Inner City Youth Outreach Tutoring Program

Law students participating in this program provide academic and test preparation assistance to junior high and high school students in Boston's Dorchester neighborhood.

International Law Society (ILS)

The International Law Society at Boston College promotes international legal education and the understanding of the international legal system. ILS offers a variety of programs to achieve these two objectives, including lectures on various issues in international law and career planning sessions sponsored in cooperation with the Career Services Office to provide students with the perspectives of alumni practicing in the field of international law.

Jewish Law Students Association (JLSA)

The Jewish Law Students' Association is an organization of students who come from a variety of backgrounds and share an interest in questions that concern Jews around the world. The Association promotes the discussion of Jewish issues pertaining to legal education and the practice of law. To further its goals, the Association undertakes a variety of political, religious, cultural, and social projects. These projects include sponsoring a speaker series, assisting in the observance of Jewish holidays (through such activities as constructing an on-campus sukkah and referring students to local services), showing Jewish films, and inviting members to group luncheons.

Lambda Law Students Association

The Lambda Law Students Association is a group of women and men in the Law School community working to provide a supportive network for lesbian and gay law students, faculty, and staff at the Law School, as well as to help inform the Law School community of legal issues confronting the gay and lesbian community.

Latino Law Students Association (LALSA)

The Latino Law Students Association incorporates the use of bilingual and bicultural knowledge in providing legal services for the Latino community. Members work with the Boston College Law School Legal Assistance Bureau and the Massachusetts Superior Court's Foreign Languages Division, translating for Spanish-speaking persons. LALSA also assists in increasing the number of Latino lawyers in the community and promotes the needs and goals of Latino students.

Law Revue

The Law Revue is an annual student-produced musical that parodies Law School life and the roles of the administration, faculty, and staff. The productions have presented the student body with an opportunity to deal with the law school experience in a creative, humorous, and thought-provoking manner. The Law Revue is also an informal way to get to know other law students.

National Lawyers Guild (NLG)

The National Lawyers Guild's Law School chapter promotes progressive ideas, advocates for legal reform, brings speakers and films to the Law School, and provides placement assistance.

Older Law Students Group

The Older Law Students Group meets weekly to discuss the problems and joys of being an “older” law student. There is no age requirement to join—age is a state of mind.

Phi Alpha Delta (PAD)

Phi Alpha Delta is a national legal fraternal organization of men and women with a chapter at the Law School. PAD publishes a student directory annually, coordinates schedules so that groups of two or three students can spend a full day with a trial judge of their choosing, and sponsors informal lunches for students and faculty members. PAD also coordinates service projects within the Law School, including mailings, films, and tours for prospective applicants. PAD is active in the larger community as well. For example, PAD members volunteer with the Carroll Center for the Blind.

Public Interest Law Foundation (PILF)

The Public Interest Law Foundation was organized in 1984 by a group of students interested in promoting the placement of law students with public interest firms and agencies. The major objective of the Foundation is to provide summer grants to students who would not otherwise be able to afford to work in these traditionally low-salaried areas. The grants are funded by contributions from students, faculty, and alumni. In addition, PILF has been instrumental in assisting the Law School in establishing its loan assistance program.

Reproductive Choice Coalition

This student organization is devoted to rational discussion of legal issues involving reproductive choice. Through a variety of forums and projects, the group addresses topics such as meaningful economic and social options for pregnant women. It supports individuals’ legal right to make responsible reproductive choices.

St. Thomas More Society

The St. Thomas More Society was begun several years ago by a few Boston College Law students who wished to strengthen their Christian ethics while studying the law. The members of the society strive to emulate the principles of St. Thomas More by actively incorporating a sense of integrity and compassion with their studies. Among their activities are a weekly Sunday Mass, an annual retreat, a Commencement Mass and lunch, a blood drive, a food and clothing drive for the homeless, and a potluck supper.

Shelter Legal Services

This organization articulates the special legal needs of veterans in the Boston College Law School community, assists homeless shelters for veterans and women, and provides volunteers for the Shelter Legal Services Foundation.

Sui Juris

Sui Juris is the Law School’s yearbook. The staff provides the production and editing skills necessary to put together this annual look at the Law School.

Women’s Law Center (WLC)

The Women’s Law Center is open to women and men who perceive the need to change the role of women in the law and in society. The Center attempts to meet the ever-changing needs of the community by informing women of their rights, holding discussion groups and a speaker series on sexist attitudes, maintaining contact with women’s groups on other law campuses, and focusing on efforts to eliminate sexual discrimination.

LAW PUBLICATIONS

The Law School’s student publications are the Boston College Law Review, Environmental Affairs Law Review, The International and Comparative Law Review, Third World Law Journal, and The Uniform Commercial Code Reporter Digest. There are two ways of becoming a member of any of these publications: grading “on” (students with a G.P.A. in approximately the top 10% are invited to join) or writing (a writing competition is held just after spring exams).

CLINICAL PROGRAMS

The Law School offers the following programs for upper-level students: Civil Litigation Clinic, Criminal Justice Clinic, Juvenile Rights Advocacy, Women and the Law Clinic, Immigration Law Practicum, Homelessness Litigation Clinic, ULL Externship Program, Attorney General Program, London Program, Judicial Process, and Judge and Community Courts. Each semester, the faculty in charge of each program hold informational meetings for all interested students. These will be

PARTICIPATION IN ADMINISTRATION

Dean John H. Garvey is the chief administrative officer of the Law School. The primary policy-making body is the school's full-time faculty, sitting as a body. Among other things, the faculty appoints the Promotions and Tenure Committee, passes on new appointments to the faculty, and establishes course and curriculum standards.

The faculty has established committees to conduct studies and make recommendations regarding the Law School's planning, procedures, and operations. Students are appointed to almost all of the Law School committees, making recommendations to the faculty.

Students are solicited for committee assignments through announcements posted on the main LSA bulletin boards and published in The Counselor. The LSA usually selects student members by drawing lots from a pool of volunteers. Students are urged to speak to LSA officers for more detailed information about the scope and involvement of students on law school committees.

EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

Intramural Activities

Other activities at the Law School run under the auspices of the LSA include intramural basketball and softball leagues, the Law School ice hockey and soccer teams, and the annual Race Ipsa Loquitor Road Race. Information on these activities and others will be posted by the LSA on student bulletin boards throughout the Law School.

Resident Assistant Program

Each year, graduate students are hired by the University to serve as resident assistants in the undergraduate dormitories. Students who are hired receive free room and board. Applications for the limited number of positions are available in November. Further information regarding the Resident Assistant Program can be obtained from Robert Jose, Associate Director for Residential Life, at 552-4824. He is located in Rubenstein Hall on the Chestnut Hill campus.

TRANSPORTATION

The MBTA

The complaints leveled against the MBTA (Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority) or "T," as it is more commonly known, are many. However, there are many advantages to taking the "T" when one considers the traffic in downtown Boston and the cost of parking a car.

The T begins operation at 5:01 a.m. every day and ends at approximately 12:40 a.m. On Sundays and holiday these times are 5:32 a.m. and 12:10 a.m. The line that serves Boston College is color-coded the Green Line. Three branches of this line within walking distance of the Boston College Chestnut Hill campus are Boston College (B), Cleveland Circle (C), and Riverside (D). A one-way trip inbound (i.e., into the downtown area) is 85¢ on the B or C line. An inbound trip on the D line is generally faster (because the D makes fewer stops) but more expensive. From Reservoir Station the cost is $1, and from either Chestnut Hill or Newton Centre the cost is $2. Return trips from downtown on all lines are 85¢. Return trips from any above-ground stations are free.

The central stop downtown is Park St., Station, which is located beneath Tremont and Park Streets. The lower level connects to the Harvard/Braintree/Ashmont (Red Line), while the upper level connects the Boston College, Cleveland Circle, Riverside, and Heath St., (Green Lines). At the Government Center stop on the Green Line, connections may be made to Logan Airport (Blue Line).

MBTA maps are included in the back of this guide. For more information, call the MBTA at (617) 722-3200.

Public Transportation to the Law School Campus

There are several ways to get to the Law School campus using public transportation. If you are coming from Boston, the easiest way is to take the Boston College line (Commonwealth Ave.) to the Boston College trolley stop then walk across the St., to the Saint Ignatius Church parking lot and catch the Boston College shuttle to the Law School. The cost of the trolley from Boston is 85¢. You also can take the Commonwealth Ave., or Beacon St., line to the Cleveland Circle stop on the Riverside line to Reservoir, walk down Chestnut Hill Ave., and catch the Boston College shuttle to the Law School. In addition, you can take the Green Line D train (Riverside) to Newton Centre and walk up Centre St., to the Law School. From Newton Centre, the cost is $2 into Boston and 85¢ out of Boston. Above-ground service out of Boston on this line is free.

From Watertown or Newton Centre, you can take the No. 553/52 Oakhill Park bus. This bus runs from Watertown Square up Centre St., in front of the Law School through Newton Centre to Dedham. The cost is 60¢ between the Law School and Watertown and/or Newton Centre.

Automobiles

Driving in Boston can be hazardous. Boston drivers often ignore red lights at intersections and frequently treat a yellow light as green. Parking in Boston is also hectic. The price of parking all day in a private lot or garage varies widely; a few offer “Early Bird” specials for $10 or less, but other lots are more expensive. There are also some less expensive garages operated by the city of Boston. Spaces at St., meters are usually taken, but if you are lucky enough to find one, they typically cost 25c for 15 minutes. If you allow your meter to go hungry, a Boston meter maid (and there are plenty) will be glad to treat you to a ticket. Do not park in tow-away zones. If you have received more than five tickets (and especially if your car is from out of state), your car will be towed and impounded until you pay your back fines and towing charge.

For those of you who own cars, note that there is no on-St., overnight parking in Newton from November 1 to May 1 or in Brookline. Overnight St., parking is allowed in Brighton, which also designates many areas for resident parking only. Also, no parking is permitted in designated areas during snow emergencies.

Taxis

If it is late and you are alone, one of these numbers might help: Veterans Cab, 527-0300; Checker Cab, 536-7000; Town Taxi, 536-5000; Yellow Cab, Newton, 332-7700; Red Cab, 734-5000. All are in the 617 area code. If you share a cab with another party, the taxi driver is required by law to restart the meter at each stop. For information on taxi services, call the Boston Police Department’s Taxi Hotline at 343-4475.

Motor Vehicle Information

For information on car registration, inspection, sales tax, driver’s licenses, and other information, contact the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, 630 Washington St., Boston, MA 02114.

Out-Of-Town Buses

The major bus carriers in Boston are Greyhound and Concord Trailways. Both are used for state, interstate, and Canadian travel. Call for further information on bus lines serving Boston and other cities in Eastern Massachusetts.

Boston College Ticket Booth:
Athletics	617-552-3000
Student Programs	617-552-4994
Theater Box Office	617-552-4800

A comprehensive listing of things to do can be found in The Phoenix newspaper, which is published once a week on Thursdays and can be picked up at a newsstand or for free under the name of "B.A.D." across from the mailroom in Stuart House. Another good resource that should not be overlooked is the weekly "Calendar" section of The Boston Globe, a pull-out section published every Thursday. This section contains critiques on music, film, and restaurants, as well as imaginative ideas about places to go and things to do.

Movies

The major movie theatres frequently charge $7.75 or more for first-run feature hits. However, many of these theatres reduce their rates on the first showing of the day to about $5.00. Discounted passes for General and Showcase Cinemas are available at the McElroy Ticket Booth (552-4994) and in the Evening College Office (552-3900). For information about current movies, call (617) 333-FILM.

Theatres

Boston hosts a number of theatres and theatre companies which afford theatre-goers an opportunity to view some exceptional stage productions. Larger “Broadway-type” productions charge approximately $30 to $100 per ticket. Prices tend to be more reasonable at the smaller theatres, which usually offer student rates as well. If you are willing to wait in line on the morning of a performance, you may be able to purchase a ticket for half the original price at BOSTIX (723-5181), located next to Faneuil Hall in Quincy Market and in Copley Square. (This applies to both large and small theatre productions.) However, these tickets are subject to availability, and only cash will be accepted.

The four larger theatres in Boston which offer Broadway-style productions are first-class in every technical respect, so when the touring “biggies” come to Boston, (Miss Saigon, Phantom of the Opera) they play one of these theatres. All four are located in Boston’s theatre district at the Boylston stop on the Green Line.

- Colonial Theatre, 106 Boylston St., Boston
617-426-9366
- Wilbur Theatre, 246 Tremont St., Boston
617-423-4008
- Shubert Theatre, 265 Tremont St., Boston
617-482-9393
- The Wang Center for Performing Arts, 268 Tremont St., Boston
617-482-9393

Some of the other major theatres in the area include:

- American Repertory Theatre, Loeb Drama Center, 64 Brattle St., Cambridge 617-547-8300
Red Line, Harvard Station

A.R.T. is a resident, not-for-profit theatre company which provides a mixture of classical and modern plays. It is associated with Harvard University and has been active for the past 20 years.
- Charles Playhouse, 76 Warrenton St., Boston
426-6912
Green Line, Boylston Station

The Charles Playhouse has existed for about 30 years. Most productions feature New York talent and on occasion a big-name star will headline at the Playhouse. Most of the productions are “serious theatre” and have general audience appeal. The theatre also offers musical revues.

- Lyric Stage, 54 Charles St., Boston
437-7172
Red Line, Charles St., Station

The Lyric often offers classics by Ibsen, Shaw, Chekhov, and others. It also provides exposure for the lesser-known playwright.

- Huntington Theatre Company, 264 Huntington Ave., Boston
266-0800
Green Line E Branch, Symphony Station

The Huntington produces a season of five classic and contemporary plays annually, directed and designed by some of the nation’s leading theatre artists. Single-ticket discounts are available for students, and greater discounts are available with subscriptions.

Dance

- Boston Ballet Company, 19 Clarendon St., Boston
695-6950
Performs full classical ballet and works by modern choreographers. Performances are held at the Wang Center.
- Dance Collective, Lexington
781-861-0735
Creates and performs modern original dance and provides quality dance education.
- Dance Umbrella, Inc., 380 Green St., Cambridge
482-7570
This group performs local, national, and international dance performances.
- Folk Art Center of New England, Inc., 1950 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge 491-6084
This group perpetuates traditional folk arts, including dance and music services and events.
- Mandala Folk Dance Ensemble, 40 Norris St., Cambridge
868-3641

This company performs international folk music and dance with an annual spring show at the John Hancock Hall.

Performing Arts Centers

- The Berklee Performance Center, 136 Massachusetts Ave., Boston 266-7455
Green Line, Hynes Convention Center Station

The Berklee Performance Center is owned and operated by the Berklee College of Music. The “giants of jazz” as well as other artists perform in the hall.

- Paradise, 967 Commonwealth Ave., Boston 562-8804
Green Line B Branch, above-ground stop on Commonwealth Ave. before Boston University.

The Paradise has a club atmosphere and extremely diverse entertainment. The seating is cafe-style, placed on three levels around the stage.

- The Wang Center for Performing Arts, 268 Tremont St., Boston 482-9393
Boylston on the Green Line.

The Wang Center seats about 4,200, and ticket prices vary with the different events. The variety of entertainment includes ballet, opera, and revivals of Broadway musicals with professional casts. Brochures listing the season's events may be obtained from the Center.

- The Orpheum Theatre, Hamilton Place (off Tremont St.,) 482-0650
The Orpheum Theatre presents a range of acts include rock, jazz, and classical music.
- Symphony Hall, 301 Massachusetts Ave., Boston
Green Line E Branch, Symphony Station (Tanglewood Ticket Office)
266-1492

Symphony Hall is the residence of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, whose in-town season runs from October to April. Most of the Celebrity Series concerts are held here as well. In the summer, the Boston Symphony Orchestra's home is Tanglewood in Lenox, Massachusetts. The other resident orchestra at Symphony Hall between May and July is the famous Boston Pops. The Pops presents a mixture of classical, show tunes, and contemporary popular music. Occasionally Symphony Hall is rented out for a big-name jazz or folk artist.
