

Overcoming the Implementation Gap:

How 20 Leading Companies
Are Making Flexibility Work

BOSTON COLLEGE CENTER FOR WORK & FAMILY

Acknowledgments

The authors express their sincere appreciation to KPMG, Eli Lilly, Takeda, and Toyota for generous financial support that made this project possible. We also want to thank the 20 organizations that agreed to participate and the 58 individuals who were willing to be interviewed. We were often moved and inspired by their stories. We greatly appreciate the time they spent with us and their willingness to open themselves up to our detailed questioning. They have provided information that will be invaluable to corporate decision makers. They sent us materials, provided additional contacts within the company, helped us schedule appointments, and were happy to answer our questions. Their openness allowed us to present information about the programs represented in this report that is unusual in its breadth and depth.

This report is intended for use by member organizations of the Boston College Center for Work & Family National Roundtable. It should not be copied or distributed to other organizations without the written approval of the Boston College Center for Work & Family. For any questions regarding the release of this document, please contact the Center for Work & Family at 617-552-2844.

Contributing Staff

Authors

Fredric R. Van Deusen, MBA
Jacquelyn B. James, Ph.D.
Nadia Gill, M.Ed.
Sharon P. McKechnie, Ph.D.

Executive Director, Boston College Center for Work & Family

Brad Harrington, Ed.D.

Graphic Design

Thomas Payne

- Overview of the Report4
 - Project Purpose and Overview*4
 - List of Participating Companies*6
 - Intended Audience*6
- Executive Summary7
- Research on Flexibility in the Context of a Changing World20
 - Challenges Facing Leading Organizations Today*20
 - Are Flexible Work Arrangements the Solution?*22
 - What Do We Know about Flexibility and How Do We Know It?*22
- How 20 Leading Companies Are Making Flexibility Work28
 - Introduction*28
 - Conduct Needed Research*29
 - Understand Employees’ Needs29
 - Analyze the Organizational Culture29
 - Identify Obstacles and How to Overcome Them32
 - Identify Potential Downsides34
 - Gain Commitment for the Program*38
 - Construct a Compelling Business Case.....38
 - Obtain the Needed Support from Other People and Groups41
 - Identify and Recruit Champions41
 - Establish a Cross-Functional Team to Assist with Design and Implementation43
 - Engage the Needed Support within the Organization43
 - Design the Program*44
 - Create a Program to Meet Employee Needs and Fit with the Culture44
 - Take Various Design Considerations into Account44
 - Design the Review System46
 - Implement the Program*48
 - Establish Needed Implementation Infrastructure48
 - Determine Rollout Approach48
 - Create and Implement a Communications Plan49
 - Develop and Provide Necessary Training50
 - Monitor and Improve the Program*51
 - Regularly Review Program Utilization and Other Measures51
 - Collect Feedback and Make Needed Changes53

Exemplars of Successful Implementations: 20 Model Programs	54
Introduction to Case Summaries	54
Part-Time and Reduced Workload	65
First Horizon National Corporation: Prime Time Schedule	66
KPMG: Reduced Workload Model	69
Alcatel-Lucent: Part-time Work	71
GlaxoSmithKline: Part-time Sales Force.....	74
Job-Sharing	77
TAP Pharmaceuticals: Field Sales Representatives	78
Hewlett-Packard	81
Teleworking	95
Booz Allen Hamilton	85
Eli Lilly & Co.	88
Hewlett-Packard	81
Dell: Virtual Call Centers	91
On- and Off-Ramp Programs	95
Deloitte & Touche: Personal Pursuits Program	96
Intel: New Parent Reintegration.....	100
MITRE: Phased Retirement.....	103
Alternative Work Schedules	106
Raytheon: 9/8o Work Schedule	107
Linked Business Results and Flexibility	110
American Airlines: BOLD Initiative	111
Best Buy: Results-Only Work Environment (ROWE)	115
Implementation of Flexible Work Arrangements	122
Takeda: Work Paths	123
Baxter Healthcare: Alternative Work Arrangements Proposal Kit	127
PriceWaterhouseCoopers: FWA Database	130
IBM: Flexible Work Options - New Communications Strategy	132
AstraZeneca: New Approach for Flexible Work Arrangements	136
Compelling Quotations	140
Compelling Quotations from Managers	140
Compelling Quotations from Employees	142
Conclusion	146
Summary	146
Appendices	147
A. Our Methods	147
B. Interview Guides	150
C. References	157