Welcome to the Boston College Career Fair

The Career Fair is your chance to meet with employers and talk about jobs and internships OR just explore a few career fields.

Do you have questions? Are you nervous about what to say?
Or do you just need some encouragement?

Stop by the Career Center Help table, on the Floor of Conte Forum.

There are two ways to approach the Career Fair

- A. Low key – learn about careers in a variety of industries. Ask questions such as “Could you describe some of the roles that communications specialists in your organization play?” or “What are the qualities that you look for in entry-level employees?”
- B. More focused – meet new potential employers, learn about specific job and internship opportunities, and find out how best to apply for these. Here are the steps for Plan B, “More Focused”:
 1. First, take a look through this program and see who is here. The attached floor plan and employer profiles will help you locate specific companies.
 2. If you haven't had a chance to research an employer, take some literature from their table (or have a friend get some for you) OR take a look at their website to gain a more complete understanding of what the organization does. Don't ask an employer, “So, what does your company do?”
 3. Start with an employer who is not at the top of your list, to get over the jitters and get a sense of how these conversations go.
 4. Approach employers and introduce yourself. Try to give the employer your own personal “sales pitch” in which you mention your name, class year, major, your career interests, and your background as it relates to the employer or the jobs/ internships they are offering.
 5. Be conversational! Be interested in what they have to say, and ask questions.
 6. Get their business card, if possible, and once you have left the table, write a note about your conversation (for your thank you note).

After the Fair

Follow up with a thank you note for the jobs or internships you want. Use the notes you took at the fair. Let the employers know you enjoyed speaking with them and that you hope to set up an interview. For tips on thank you notes, go to <http://www.bc.edu/offices/careers/jobs/resumes/thankyou.html>

Need more help, or didn't find what you were looking for?

- The staff of the Career Center can assist you with any career-related issue – searching for jobs or internships; exploring and choosing career fields; crafting a resume, cover letter or grad school essay.
