Special Library Services

Quest – Library Information System

The Quest Computer system of the Boston College Libraries provides access to over 1.6 million volumes including books, media materials, microforms, newspapers, and periodicals. Quest may be searched by author, title, call number, subject, or key word from workstations in the libraries or by dialing in to the system from other locations either on or off campus. A separate file (NEWT) offers access to books recently added to the library collections. This is also searchable by author, title, subject, and call number. Over 25 major periodical indexes in the humanities, social sciences, law, and the sciences may be searched through Quest.

Computer Searching

CD-ROM networks in the O'Neill Library and the Law Library give patrons immediate on-site access to many databases in history, religion, and other areas of the humanities; the social sciences; government documents; nursing and medicine; law; and public affairs. Dial-in access to the networks is available from other campus libraries and faculty offices. Additional CD-ROM databases are available on individual workstations in O'Neill Library and other campus libraries. New databases are added regularly and patrons should check with the Reference Department for a list of current titles or consult the Boston College Libraries web page (<http://www.bc.edu/libraries.html>). The FirstSearch service, which provides access to the OCLC bibliographic files containing over 30 million records, is available through Quest as the database Worldcat (WCAT).

In addition to the search capabilities noted above, the Libraries offer patrons and researchers access to several hundred on-line databases that may be used for the retrieval of bibliographic information, full text, or statistical information. Many of these are accessible from the Libraries' home page. To use these databases, a researcher may plan a search strategy with a reference librarian and have the librarian perform the search. If appropriate, the researcher may choose from a smaller number of on-line services, such as Dow Jones or NEXIS/LEXIS, and perform the search after some initial training by a Library staff member. The Law School Library has on-line access to LEXIS and WESTLAW as well as other databases. Access to LEXIS and WESTLAW is restricted by contract to members of the Law School community. Dow Jones may be accessed by members of the BC community and NEXIS/LEXIS at O'Neill Library may only be used by members of the BC community on the Chestnut Hill campus.

The Libraries facilitate access to many computerized databases in business, economics, and the social sciences on magnetic tape. Contact the Reference Department for more information, and to arrange for demonstrations, workshops, or presentations to classes or departments.

Interlibrary Loan

The Interlibrary Loan Service is offered to students, faculty, administrators, and staff to obtain materials not available in the Boston College Libraries. Books, photocopies of journal articles, microfilm, theses, and government documents may be borrowed from other libraries. Except for unusual items, the waiting period is from one to four weeks; for anyone willing to use the material at the holding library, a computerized system at the reference desk will provide locations. Request forms and further information are available from the Interlibrary Loan staff in each library. Requests can be made by using electronic forms available on the Libraries' web site or by visiting a library.

Boston Library Consortium

The library is a member of the Boston Library Consortium, a group of area libraries which includes Brandeis, Boston University, Brown University, Tufts, Wellesley, Northeastern, MIT, Massachusetts State Library, Boston Public Library, the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, and the University of Massachusetts System. Faculty and graduate students may apply for a Consortium borrower's card at the Reference Department in the O'Neill Library. Further information may be found in the User Guide and the Consortium Handbook, available in all libraries. A gateway to the BLC member library on-line catalogs is available on the Libraries' web site.

United States Government Publications

Boston College is one of 1,400 Federal Depository Libraries located throughout the United States. This status entitles the O'Neill Library to receive, on a selective basis, United States government publications at no cost with the stipulation that they be made available to the general public. Most of the material circulates in the same manner as books. Inquiries related to the use of government documents should be directed to Government Documents and Microforms staff on the first floor of the O'Neill Library.

Media Center

The Media Center on the second floor of O'Neill Library houses information in many nonprint formats — videocassettes, laserdiscs, 16mm films, compact discs, audiocassettes, phonodiscs, and CD-ROMs. Books with accompanying computer software are also shelved there. All media may be used by patrons within the Center, in individual carrels. Faculty may conduct their classes in each of our two media classrooms. There is a Faculty Preview Room for faculty meeting with small groups or previewing media materials. Loans of videos are restricted to BC faculty. The Center also has adaptive equipment for patrons with vision impairments.

New England Library Information Network/OCLC

Through membership in the New England Library Information Network (NELINET), our users have on-line access to publishing, cataloging, and interlibrary loan location information from the data bank of OCLC, Inc. which contains over 38 million bibliographic records from the Library of Congress and other national libraries and from over 25,000 other libraries world-wide.

John J. Burns Library of Rare Books and Special Collections

The University's special collections, including the University's Archives, are housed in the magnificently appointed Honorable John J. Burns Library, located in the Bapst Library Building, north entrance. These distinguished and varied collections speak eloquently of the University's commitment to the preservation and dissemination of human knowledge. The Burns Library is home to more than one hundred thousand volumes, some twelve million manuscripts, and important collections of architectural records, maps, art works, photographs, films, prints, artifacts, and ephemera. These materials are housed in the climate-controlled, secure environment of Burns either because of their rarity or because of their importance as part of a special collection. While treated with special care, these resources are available for use at Burns to all qualified students, faculty, and researchers. Indeed, their use is strongly encouraged, and visitors to Burns are always welcome, either simply to browse or to make use of the collections.

Though its collections cover virtually the entire spectrum of human knowledge, the Burns Library has achieved international recognition in several specific areas of research, most notably: Irish studies; British Catholic authors; Jesuitana; fine print; Catholic liturgy and life in America, 1925-1975; Boston history; Caribbeana; Balkan studies; and Congressional archives. It has also won acclaim for significant holdings on nursing, detective fiction, Thomas Merton, Japanese prints, Colonial and early Republic Protestantism, and banking.

Some of the significant collections at Burns include:

The Aylesford Press Collection
Banking Archives: Hibernia Savings Bank, Union Warren, The Provident Institution for Savings, the Yankee Bank for Finance and Savings, and the Savings Banks Association of Massachusetts

The John J. Burns Library is open Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The Library is closed on all University holidays. Visitors are always welcome and are encouraged to view the permanent exhibition areas of the Library. Guided tours are also available upon request. Patrons using the collections must do so in the Burns Reading Room where specialized reference and copy services are provided. Burns sponsors an active exhibits and lecture series program.

Academic Development Center

The Academic Development Center (ADC) exists to support and enhance all aspects of academic excellence by helping undergraduates, graduate students, and faculty improve learning quality and teaching effectiveness. The ADC, which opened its doors in September 1991, is located on the second floor of O'Neill Library in the Eileen M. and John M. Connors, Jr. Learning Center.

The ADC is a comprehensive, inclusive resource serving all of the University's students and faculty. To address the needs of the great majority of Boston College students, the Center provides tutoring for more than 60 courses, including calculus, statistics, biology, chemistry, nursing, accounting, and classical and foreign languages. In addition, graduate students in English serve as writing tutors. (All ADC tutors are recommended and approved by their relevant academic departments; most are graduate students, juniors, or seniors.)

The Center offers programs designed to challenge the most academically talented, highest achieving students — as well as programs designed to support those who are least prepared and most academically challenged. One of the ADC's three professional staff members assists students with learning disabilities, helping to ensure their academic success at Boston College.

Tutoring, and all other academic support services, are free of charge to all Boston College students and instructors.

The Center also sponsors seminars, workshops, and discussions for faculty and graduate teaching fellows on strategies for successful teaching and learning. Through these and other activities, the Academic Development Center plays an increasingly important role in enhancing the quality of academic life at Boston College.

University Archives

Archives are the official noncurrent papers and records of an institution that are deemed worthy of preservation for their legal, fiscal, or historical values. The University Archives, a department within the John J. Burns Library, contain the office records and documents of the various University offices, academic and otherwise, copies of all University publications, including student publications, movie footage of Boston College football, some audiovisual materials, and tape recordings of the University Lecture Series and other significant events. A significant collection of photographs documents the pictorial history of Boston College. Alumni, faculty, and Jesuit records are also preserved. In addition, the Archives are the repository for the documents of Newton College of the Sacred Heart (1946–1975); the Jesuit Education Association (1934–1970); the Catholic International Education Office (1952–1976); and the documents of the Jesuit Community of Boston College (1863–).

The Language Laboratory

The Boston College Language Laboratory, serving all the language departments, students of English as a foreign language, and the Boston College community at large, is located in Lyons 313. In addition to its 62 listening/recording stations and dual-teacher console, the facility includes video viewing rooms, multimedia-equipped Macintosh workstations, and a short-wave radio/CD listening station. The Lab's audio and videotape/laserdisc collection, computer software, other audio-visual learning aids, and print materials including mono- and bilingual dictionaries, as well as laboratory manuals for elementary through advanced language courses, directly support and/or supplement the curriculum requirements in international language, literature, and music. The Lab's collection is designed to assist users in the acquisition and maintenance of aural comprehension, oral and written proficiency, and cultural awareness. Prominent among the Lab's offerings that directly address these goals are international news broadcasts and other television programming available through the Boston College cable television network and made accessible to Lab users via EagleNET connections and/or via videotaped off-air recordings. These live or near-live broadcasts from around the world provide a timely resource for linguistic and cultural information in a wide variety of languages. Students (undergraduate and graduate), faculty, and BC community members who wish to use the Language Laboratory facility and its collection will find the Laboratory staff available during the day, in the evening, and on weekends to assist them in the operation of equipment and in the selection of appropriate materials for their course-related or personal language needs.

The McMullen Museum of Art

The Charles S. and Isabella V. McMullen Museum of Art aims to increase understanding of the visual arts, to encourage inquiry, and to enrich learning through the display of a notable permanent collection and special exhibitions of international importance. The Museum occupies two floors of Devlin Hall. Spacious galleries with movable walls provide flexible exhibition spaces that rival venues in larger museums.

Begun in the nineteenth century, the University's permanent collection contains masterpieces that span the history of art from Europe, Asia, and the Americas. Outstanding among them are Gothic and Baroque tapestries, Italian paintings of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, American landscape paintings of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, and Japanese prints. The collection is displayed on a rotating basis in the Museum's galleries on the ground floor. In keeping with the teaching mission of a university museum, accompanying text explains the significance of each work in its historical context and addresses questions from the current scholarship. The Museum maintains an active special exhibition program, bringing outstanding works from around the world to Chestnut Hill. The Museum also contains a Micro Gallery, an innovative computer system which visitors to the Museum may use to display information and images of works in the permanent collection, as well as photographs of related works. The Museum organizes public lectures, symposia, workshops, film series, and gallery tours in concert with current exhibitions.

Information Technology

Information Technology's purpose is to plan and manage all computing, information and telecommunications resources that form the information technology resources utility, and to direct the integration and effective use of Information Technology Resources staff to provide efficient information technology services to the Boston College community. Information Technology reorganized during 1997. As a result this section of the Fact Book has significantly changed in comparison with previous years and is expected to continue changing as the organization and the technology environment evolve. Information Technology is composed of the following primary work groups:

Academic and Research Services

Administrative Support Services

Application Services

Enterprise Data Services

Institutional Information Resources & Services

Network and Desktop Services

Operations and Technical Services

Special Projects

Student Learning and Support Services

Technology Integration Services

Technology Planning and Integration

Detailed information about the Information Technology organization and the variety of computing and communications services it provides is available through the Info Tech web site (<http://www.bc.edu/infotech>). A selection of usage and operational statistics is provided in the following pages.

Student Learning and Support Center

The Student Learning and Support Center (SLSC) is bringing students, faculty, staff, customer service and technology together. The SLSC located in O'Neill Library, room 250, is Boston College's main computer laboratory on campus. The facility holds 106 Macintosh's, 48 IBM-PC's, 2 Color Scanners, 6 networked e-mail stations, 2 Music stations and 1 DEC terminal for the use of currently active Boston College students, faculty, and staff. Within the facility, users have access to a wide variety of software applications and full access to the Internet. For more information about the SLSC, see our Web page (<http://www.bc.edu/slsc>).

* CICS (IBM's Customer Information Control System) is the University's integrated, on-line administrative information system.

 The 56% growth in the volume of transactions from 1988-89 to 1989-90 was largely due to the implementation of U-Buy, the University's on-line requisition system.

* InfoEagle, the primary web server of Boston College, is accessed both as www.bc.edu and infoeagle.bc.edu. One measure of traffic on web servers is the number of successful file transfers. A typical request for a web page will involve several file transfers since graphic elements are stored and delivered across the Internet as separate files.
