Global trends and future prospects for the internationalization of higher education

Norwegian Conference on Internationalization 2015
Internasjonaliseringskonferansen 2015

Laura E. Rumbley, PhD
Boston College
Center for International Higher Education

March 11, 2015
A word about CIHE

- Established in 1995 by Philip G. Altbach
- Dedicated to “advancing knowledge about the complex realities of higher education in the contemporary world”
- Produces publications and analysis

- Hosts events
- Supports graduate students
- Hosts visiting scholars
A word about CIHE

* New director to be hired for fall 2015 *
Global trends and future prospects for the internationalization of higher education

Source: https://esgexperience.com/2014/06/future-of-wi-fi-predicting-without-a-crystal-ball/
Multiple futures

“It depends…”
Global trends and future prospects for the internationalization of higher education

Growth and contraction

Quality and accountability

Diversity and isomorphism

Depth and breadth
Global trends and future prospects for the internationalization of higher education

Growth and contraction
Global trends and future prospects for the internationalization of higher education

Quality and accountability
Global trends and future prospects for the internationalization of higher education

Diversity and isomorphism
Global trends and future prospects for the internationalization of higher education

Depth and breadth
Global trends and future prospects for the internationalization of higher education

How to make sense of, and find our place in, a world of...

- complexity
- disruption
- danger
Sir John Daniel
UNESCO World Conference on Higher Education (2009)

“Iron Triangle”

Access  Cost  Quality
Sir John Daniel
UNESCO World Conference on Higher Education (2009)

“Iron Triangle”
(modified by Rumbley, 2015)
STAND FOR SOMETHING

Source: http://mostlychelsea.com/2014/08/stand-for-something-and-have-passion/
Thank you very much!

Tusen takk!

Laura E. Rumbley, PhD
Boston College
Center for International Higher Education

rumbley@bc.edu