A panel discussion will be held on nonviolent action against oppressors around the world. First, an oratorio (song) will be sung about how 10,000 teachers in Norway stopped Hitler from putting Nazi textbooks in their schools. A discussion will follow about how nonviolent action has begun to take place globally in the last century.

Norwegian Teachers’ Resistance to Nazi Occupation:

Song:
“The Teachers of Norway”

Performers:
Steve Bass, Pianist
Mary Gerbi, Mezzo-Soprano
Bradford Gleim, Baritone
Randy McGee, Tenor
Adriana Repetto, Soprano

Panel Discussants:
Dr. Gene Sharp
World-renowned writer on nonviolent action
Dr. Severyn Bruyn
Professor Emeritus, Boston College
Mr. Pat Scanlon
Chapter coordinator of Veterans for Peace
Dr. John Michalczyk
Director, Film Studies, Boston College
Professor Lorenz Reibling
Professor, Woods College of Advancing Studies

Trinity Chapel, Newton Campus
Wednesday, April 9
7:00 pm

Sponsored by: Woods College of Advancing Studies, Fine Arts Department, Laura and Lorenz Reibling Foundation, Jacques Salmanowitz Program, Faith, Peace and Justice Program, and Veterans for Peace

Contact: Prof. John Michalczyk (Fine Arts)
michalcj@bc.edu