SC 761: Second Year Graduate Writing Seminar (Fall/Spring: 3)
Spring 2010

Wednesday, January 20— No class meeting.

Wednesday, January 27—Class meeting. Homework due by 8 a.m.—a minimum 3 page (double-spaced) research memo (e-mailed to both me and to your advisor) detailing the progress you have made in your research, interesting findings, compelling quotes, etc. Discussion of options for organizing qualitative data electronically.

Wednesday, February 3—Class meeting. Homework due by 8 a.m.: a minimum 500-word response to your classmates’ research memos. Discussion of submitting articles to professional meetings.

Wednesday, February 10—No class.

Wednesday, February 17—Class meeting. Homework due by 8 a.m.: a 500-word minimum response to Becker’s Writing for Social Scientists.

Wednesday, February 24—No class.
SPRING BREAK

Wednesday, March 10—Class meeting. Homework due by 8 a.m.: a minimum 3 page (double-spaced) research memo detailing the progress you have made, interesting findings, compelling quotes, etc. Discussion of submitting articles to professional journals.

Wednesday, March 17—No class. Homework due by 8 a.m.: a brief revision/restatement of your research question(s), and an outline of what you think your findings are going to be response to your classmates’ research memos.

Wednesday, March 24—Class meeting. Homework due by 8 a.m.: an analysis of the “findings” sections of four scholarly articles.

Wednesday, March 31—No class. Homework due by 8 a.m.: a draft of your “findings” section.

April 7—Class meeting. Homework due by 8 a.m.: a response to classmates’ “findings” sections, and an analysis of the conclusions of four scholarly articles.

April 14—No class. Homework due by 8 a.m.: a draft of your conclusion.

April 21—Class meeting in the Chocolate Bar. Introduction revision workshop.

April 28—In-class presentations.
Drafts of MA papers should be sent to me by 5/19.