PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Our macro curriculum is the first comprehensive social work graduate program to train social workers to take their place in an entrepreneurial movement incorporating principles of business administration and policy analysis. We are taking a leadership role in this vibrant academic and practice field by developing a program that involves students in courses that promote innovation and provide experiential learning opportunities at human service organizations and in the Social Innovation Lab. The Lab is a unique, solution-focused structure that engages leaders from private and public social service agencies in a series of fast-paced interactions that result in the development and refinement of a solution prototype.
