Are You a Junior Who Wants to Intern for the New York Giants?

The Giants are among the richest and most storied franchises in American sports history, with seventeen NFL division championships, six NFL championships, and three Super Bowl victories.

The Steamboat Scholar that is selected to intern with the New York Giants will be assigned to the core front office team of the New York Giants and will rely on excellent verbal and written communication and interpersonal skills. The Scholar will be positioned according to personal interest and departmental needs in either the Public Relations, Community Relations, or Marketing departments. At the outset of the internship, the Steamboat Scholar will work as part of a team in each area before focusing ing on one for the duration of training camp.

The intern is responsible for coordinating the selection, support, and evaluation of the grant projects; and managing budgets of and fund transfers to grantees.. This is a paid internship, $10+/hr. Please email a cover letter and resume to Lisa Frederick at lfrederick@mass-service.org

Parents Helping Parents: Non-Profit Marketing Internship

Parents Helping Parents
All Kids Count!

Parents Helping Parents (PHP) is a small, grassroots, nonprofit organization that for over 30 years has been dedicated to empowering parents and preventing child abuse in Massachusetts. PHP has a proven track record of both preventing and reducing child abuse. PHP accomplishes this by sponsoring two programs: a 24-hour, toll-free helpline for parents called the Parental Stress Line, and a statewide network of free and confidential Parent Support Groups. Read more about our programs and our history at www.parentshelpingparents.org. Our office is located at 108 Water Street in Watertown, Massachusetts. We are easily accessible by public transportation.

Internship Description:

We are looking for a dedicated, energetic, graduate or senior undergraduate to help execute our marketing plan as part of an internship. Responsibilities will include: coordinating a bi-monthly newsletter and website updates, coordinating the development of new marketing materials with PHP's graphic designer, acquiring ads in yellow pages and newspapers, and assisting in the planning and execution of other direct marketing campaigns. The intern will be supervised by a volunteer marketing executive with over 20 years of proven senior level management experience in the marketing field, Miles McNamee. Miles is currently Marketing Director of the Copy-right Clearance Center and was formerly Senior Vice President-Affiliate Marketing, for Starz Entertainment Group.
