

PETER WEILER

Curriculum Vitae

Education:

B. A., 1963, Stanford University
M. A., 1964, Harvard University
Ph.D., 1969, Harvard University

Academic Experience:

Assistant Professor, University of Massachusetts (Boston), 1968-1971
Assistant Professor, Boston College, 1971-1975
Associate Professor, Boston College, 1975-1989
Professor, Boston College, 1989-present

Publications:

Books:

The New Liberalism: Liberal Social Theory in Great Britain, 1896-1914. New York, 1982
British Labour and the Cold War. Stanford, 1988
Ernest Bevin. Manchester, 1993

Articles:

- "The New Liberalism of L. T. Hobhouse," Victorian Studies, XVI (December, 1972), pp. 141-162
- "William Clarke: The Making and Unmaking of a Fabian Socialist," Journal of British Studies, XIV (November, 1974), pp. 77-108
- "The United States, International Labor, and the Cold War: The Break-up of the World Federation of Trade Unions," Diplomatic History, V (Winter, 1981), pp. 1-22
- "British Labour and the Cold War: The London Dock Strike of 1949," in J. Cronin and J. Schmeer, eds., Social Conflict and the Political Order in Modern Britain (London, 1982), pp. 146-178
- "Forming Responsible Trade Unions: The Colonial Office, Colonial Labor, and the Trades Union Congress," Radical History Review, #28-30 (1984), pp. 367-392
- "British Labour and the Cold War: The Foreign Policy of the Labour Governments, 1945-1951," Journal of British Studies, XXVI (January, 1987), pp. 54-82
- "History as Indoctrination: A Critique of Palmer and Colton's History of the Modern World," (Co-author, with David Hunt and Linda Gordon), History Teacher, XXI (November, 1987), pp. 53-103
- "The Triumph of the British New Right," Radical History Review, #49 (Winter, 1991), pp. 135-147
- "Working-Class Interests and the Politics of Social-Democratic Reform in Britain," (Co-author with James Cronin), International Labor and Working Class History, #40 (Fall, 1991), pp. 47-66

- "Ernest Bevin," Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century British History. New York, 1995
- "The New Liberalism," Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century British History.
New York, 1995
- "William Clarke," New Dictionary of National Biography, forthcoming
- "Britain and the Cold War: Revisionist Beginnings," Twentieth Century British History, Vol 9, No. 1, 1998, pp. 127-138.
- "The Rise and Fall of the Conservatives' 'Grand Design' for Housing, 1951-1964," Contemporary British History, XIV (Spring, 2000), pp. 122-150.
- "The Conservatives' Search for a Middle Way in Housing, 1951-1964,"
Twentieth Century British History 14, no. 4 (2003), 360-390.

Papers:

- "Bias in Western Civilization Textbooks," presented to the American Historical Association, 1972.
- "Labor's Secret Propaganda War Against Communism: The Origins of the Information Research Department," presented to the American Historical Association, 1978.
- "The Trades Union Congress and the Colonial Trade Union Movement," presented to the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association, 1979.
- "Anglo-American Labor and the Cold War," presented to the Organisation of American Historians, 1982.
- "The 1948 Anti-Communist Campaign in the British Trade Union Movement," presented to the American Historical Association, 1982.
- "British Labor and the Cold War," presented to the Southern Historical Association, 1983.
- "Britain and the Cold War," presented to the North American Conference on British Studies, 1984.
- "The British Trades Union Congress and World Politics in 1945," presented to the North American Labor History Conference, 1985.
- "Working-Class Interest and the Politics of Social-Democratic Reform in Britain," (with James Cronin), presented to the American Historical Association, 1989.
- "The Emperor Has No Clothes: Ernest Bevin as Foreign Secretary," presented to the North American Conference on British Studies, 1992.
- "The Re-Creation of Outcast London," presented to the North American Conference on British Studies, 1995
- "Property and Politics in Post-war Britain: The Origins of the Rent Act of 1965," presented to the Northeast Conference on British Studies, 1997
- "Labour and the Land, 1945-1970," presented to the Northeast Conference on British Studies, 1998.
- "Controlling the Speculator: Labour and the Property Market in the 1960s," presented to the North American Conference on British Studies, 2001