

Denise Sharif

Many of you have worked with or know Denise in her capacity as BC Law's "Lexis rep." We are delighted that she has come over to the academic side and joined us here at the Law Library.

Denise has a Masters degree in Public Affairs & International Relations from the John W. McCormack School of Policy Studies at the University of Massachusetts, a JD from Suffolk University Law School, and a BA in English from UMass. Denise will be working on her MLS via the distance education program at the University of Southern Connecticut. She brings a wealth of teaching and technology expertise to Boston College Law School from her experience with Lexis and as an adjunct teacher in Lasell College's Legal Studies Program and in Quincy College's Paralegal Program.

While in law school, Denise worked as a research associate with Suffolk's International Human Rights and Humanitarian Law Project. She also worked as a summer legal intern at the Pakistan Institute of Human Rights. Denise spent the summer after her first year in law school in India at the Touro College Summer Law Program. Please join us in making her feel part of the BC Law family.
