PSYC223702 Psychology of the Actor
Summer 2015      Number of Credits: 3

Instructor: M. E. Panero
Office: McGuinn 430
Office Hours: TBD
Schedule Summer Session 2: Tue & Thur 6:00-9:15pm
Room: Campion Hall 231
email: Panero@bc.edu

Telephone: n/a

Boston College Mission Statement

Strengthened by more than a century and a half of dedication to academic excellence, Boston College commits itself to the highest standards of teaching and research in undergraduate, graduate and professional programs and to the pursuit of a just society through its own accomplishments, the work of its faculty and staff, and the achievements of its graduates. It seeks both to advance its place among the nation's finest universities and to bring to the company of its distinguished peers and to contemporary society the richness of the Catholic intellectual ideal of a mutually illuminating relationship between religious faith and free intellectual inquiry.

Boston College draws inspiration for its academic societal mission from its distinctive religious tradition. As a Catholic and Jesuit university, it is rooted in a world view that encounters God in all creation and through all human activity, especially in the search for truth in every discipline, in the desire to learn, and in the call to live justly together. In this spirit, the University regards the contribution of different religious traditions and value systems as essential to the fullness of its intellectual life and to the continuous development of its distinctive intellectual heritage.

Course Description

We are all consumers of acting: just consider the frequency with which humans watch dramas on TV, film, and stage. What is it that allows actors to enact a character in an imaginary world? This course explores the psychology of actors. Topics include early childhood signs of acting talent, personality traits of actors, cognitive processes used in acting, mental illnesses prevalent in actors, and how acting techniques could be used by non-actors in everyday life (e.g. for hypnosis, therapy, emotion regulation and expression, and increasing empathy). Where relevant, we will compare actors to other kinds of creative individuals.

Course Objectives

By the end of this class, students will have learned:

- basic psychological research methods
- introductory acting exercises
- what is physically and psychologically required of actors
- the characteristics of people who become actors
- how acting exercises can be beneficial to non-actors

Grading

WCAS Grading System

The undergraduate grading system consists of twelve categories: A (4.00), A- (3.67), excellent; B+ (3.33), B (3.00), B- (2.67), good; C+ (2.33), C (2.00), C- (1.67), satisfactory; D+ (1.33), D (1.00), D- (.67), passing but unsatisfactory; F (.00), failure; I (.00), incomplete; F (.00), course dropped without notifying office; W (.00), official withdrawal from course.

Grade Reports. All students are required to log into the web through Agora to access their semester grades. Students must utilize their BC username and password to log on. If your username or password is not known the HELP Desk located in the Campus Technology Resource Center (CTRC) in O’Neill Library will issue a new one. The CTRC requires a valid picture ID (a BC ID, driver’s license or passport) to obtain your password.
Text(s)/Readings (Required) – This list is not exhaustive

Important Policies

http://www.bc.edu/content/bc/schools/advstudies/guide/academicinteg.html

Written Work

Graduate and undergraduate students are expected to prepare professional, polished written work. Written materials must be typed in 12-point Times New Roman font, double spaced. Strive for a thorough, yet concise style. Cite literature appropriately, using APA format. Develop your thoughts fully, clearly, logically and specifically. Proofread all materials to ensure the use of proper grammar, punctuation, and spelling. You are encouraged to make use of campus resources for refining writing skills as needed [http://www.bc.edu/libraries/help/tutoring.html].

Scholarship and Academic Integrity

It is expected that students will produce original work and cite references appropriately. Failure to reference properly is plagiarism. Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not necessarily limited to, plagiarism, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, cheating on examinations or assignments, and submitting the same paper or substantially similar papers to meet the requirements of more than one course without seeking permission of all instructors concerned. Scholastic misconduct may also involve, but is not necessarily limited to, acts that violate the rights of other students, such as depriving another student of course materials or interfering with another student’s work.

Request for Accommodations

If you have a disability and will be requesting accommodations for this course, please register with either Dr. Kathy Duggan (dugganka@bc.edu), Associate Director, Connors Family Learning Center (learning disabilities or AHD) or Dean Paulette Durrett, (paulette.durrett@bc.edu), Assistant Dean for students with disabilities, (all other disabilities). Advance notice and appropriate documentation are required for accommodations. For further information, you can locate the disability resources on the web at http://www.bc.edu/content/bc/libraries/help/tutoring/specialservices.html.

Attendance

Class attendance is an important component of learning. Students are expected to attend all classes and to arrive by the beginning of and remain for the entire class period. When an occasion occurs that prevents a student from attending class, it is the student’s obligation to inform the instructor of the conflict before the class meets. The student is still expected to meet all assignment deadlines. If a student knows that he or she will be absent on a particular day, the student is responsible for seeing the instructor beforehand to obtain the assignments for that day. If a student misses a class, he or she is responsible for making up the work by obtaining a classmate’s notes and handouts and turning in any assignments due. Furthermore, many instructors give points for participation in class. If you miss class, you cannot make up participation points associated with that class. Types of absences that are not typically excused include weddings, showers, vacations, birthday parties, graduations, etc. Additional assignments, penalties and correctives are at the discretion of the instructor. If circumstances necessitate excessive absence from class, the student should consider withdrawing from the class. In all cases, students are expected to accept the decision of the instructor regarding attendance policies specific to the class.

Consistent with our commitment of creating an academic community that is respectful of and welcoming to persons of differing backgrounds, we believe that every reasonable effort should be made to allow members of the university community to observe their religious holidays without jeopardizing the fulfillment of their academic obligations. It is the responsibility of students to review course syllabi as soon as they are distributed and to consult the faculty member promptly regarding any possible conflicts with observed religious holidays. If asked, the student should provide accurate information about the obligations entailed in the observance of that particular holiday. However, it is the responsibility of the student to complete any and all class requirements for days that are missed due to conflicts due to religious holidays.

There may be circumstances that necessitate a departure from this policy. Feel free to contact the WCAS at 617-552-3900 for consultation.

Deadlines
Assignments are due at the beginning of the class period on the specified dates. Late assignments will be graded accordingly.

Course Assignments (subject to change)

- Class participation (25% of grade):
  In order to better understand the process that actors undergo in rehearsals and its potential risks and benefits, some acting techniques will be taught and demonstrated in class. Students will be expected to participate in acting exercises.
- Short answer pop quizzes (25% of grade):
  Several times throughout the semester, unannounced quizzes will be assigned during class. They will include a question or a topic sentence. You are expected to write a short answer (5-10 sentences) using the material learned in class. There will be no make-up quizzes administered if you are not in class on the day of the pop quiz.
- Weekly summaries (25% of grade)
  Outline summary of each section (Introduction, Methods, Results, and Discussion) of the readings listed above. One summary is due at the beginning of each week.
- Paper (25% of grade):
  Pick a way that acting exercises can be utilized by non-actors (it can be one not mentioned in class). Explain how you would implement that exercise and how you would evaluate its effectiveness. For example, suppose you are a therapist and you decide to teach your anxious patient how to relax using the affective memory exercise. Describe the affective memory exercise and when and how your patient would do it. Describe how you would measure whether the exercise is actually helping your patient to relax and how much. – Must be APA style (12-point font, Times New Roman font) and 3-5 pages (not including references).