

BOSTON COLLEGE
FINANCE DEPARTMENT

MFIN2299 INDEPENDENT STUDY APPROVAL FORM

Independent Study projects may be undertaken by seniors with a finance concentration or minor under the supervision of a full-time finance department faculty member and with the approval of the chair of the finance department. Students must have completed Corporate Finance (MFIN1127) and Investments (MFIN1151) as prerequisites for an Independent Study project.

The student must demonstrate both an extremely strong interest in a particular area of finance and a strong self-motivation and self-discipline in previous studies. The topic and area of research may not overlap with any undergraduate finance elective offering. The request to undertake an Independent Study may not be associated with an existing internship program.

No less than a five-page abstract that details the area of research, hypotheses, and methodology to be employed must be presented to the full-time professor for his/her consideration, prior to his or her approval to supervise the project.

Upon completion of the study, the supervising faculty member will assign the student a grade.
