Take 1-credit P/F Cross-current seminar on Intercultural Competency, Spring 2022

Over the course of the past two years, the world has experienced twin pandemics, COVID-19, and a continuation of systemic racism. Students entering the workforce today, no matter what profession or field of study, need to be equipped with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes to successfully interact with colleagues, clients, customers and communities who are different from themselves. This seminar will help students develop their awareness and faith through intentional exposure to relevant theoretical materials, readings and structured interactions and discussions with diverse groups of people, and reflection on the impact of these experiences on their own identities and their relationships with others. Issues pertaining to domestic and international populations will be explored as well as cultural, national, and international events which relate to these topics. Interested? Email Adrienne.Nussbaum@bc.edu with your name, Eagle ID, and a sentence or two about why you want to take this course, for example, it relates to your major, other courses you have taken at BC, career goals, etc.
