EVENTS THIS WEEK

- Concentration Fest! This event is for freshmen and sophomores, where seniors and juniors will share insights on courses, career paths, and more. It's a great opportunity to start building your network. Watch this video for step-by-step instructions.
  - Set up your profile, ensuring it gets noticed for all the right reasons.
  - Once your profile is set up, you can start inviting professors to dinner in your residence hall or apartment, and you will receive a $100 allowance to pay for the ingredients.
  - Visit our linked Career Highlights page for more information.

- Learning about Influential Women in the News
  - The Lab is the program for any student-founder hoping to actualize ideas that you've been interested in. Stop by our hands-on workshops, business model development sessions, and exclusive opportunities from employers.
  - We recommend visiting the Career Advising Google Site for more information.

- Advanced Excel Skills
  - Looking to sharpen up and learn new Excel magic? Join WIN and Professor Karpovsky for a session.

- Entrepreneurship Lab
  - Be able to create a valuation summary and valuation football field and become more knowledgeable about the world of startups, real estate, and property technology. RSVP here:

- Finance and Consulting
  - Understanding Private Equity
  - A panel hosted by Bank of America's BC alum followed by dinner and networking with founders.

- Networking and Leadership
  - Shea Center Talk: Branick Weix, Aryeo
  - Looking for hands-on experience with influential women? Attend this event.

- Professional Development
  - The Lab is the program for any student-founder hoping to actualize ideas that you've been interested in. Stop by our hands-on workshops, business model development sessions, and exclusive opportunities from employers.

- Career Advancement
  - Attend the SHEA Center event and learn about hands-on experiences (found through the BC internship fair) developed her interest in this field.

- Mentorship Program
  - Mentorship Program Kickoff - Career Development Center.

- Student Life
  - Stop by drop-in hours in Fulton 315 or make an appointment with your staff advisor to learn about the concentration classes and potential experiences.

- Leadership
  - The Accounting Department is offering advising about the Accounting and Accounting concentrations and minors. Meet with accounting faculty to answer your questions. We will provide information about the concentrations, the courses offered in them, and careers for which the concentrations will be helpful. Any questions, please contact Mary Ellen Carter (maryellen.carter@bc.edu) or Lian Fen for Finance and Consulting concentrations and minors.

- Advising
  - During this session, we will learn how to effectively measure the success of different event-driven, distressed credit and special situation opportunities:
  - $4b AUM NYC-based hedge fund focusing on long-short investments and specializes in event-driven, distressed credit and special situation opportunities:
  - Featuring Matt Sabal, BC '19, an investment analyst at Caspian Capital. Caspian is a

- Networking
  - Make the change on EagleApps or stop by Fulton 315.

- Professional Development
  - We are holding extra drop-in hours this week at Concentration Fest - Wednesday 10/26, 3:30-5pm. Stop by drop-in hours in Fulton 315 or make an appointment with your staff advisor to learn about the concentration classes and potential experiences.