organization recruits at BC. If you are interested in its programs, you will need to go to the website for that. We have highlighted in Maroon if the business functions they have LDP programs for. Most of these programs are available for management majors, but they are not exclusive. We have not included the deadlines as this is a comprehensive list of programs. Most are for full-time students, but many also offer summer internship programs. The list includes programs for students interested in management careers in different industries, such as finance, technology, and consulting. Students with different interests, such as those interested in consulting, management, and finance, may find programs that fit their interests.

Maybe you have some general ideas about which function of industry seems more appealing to you. But don't worry if you don't have a clear idea of what you want to do. You can still explore different options and see which one interests you the most. In the meantime, you can prepare yourself by taking courses that are relevant to your interests and networking with people in the industry. You can also consider doing a gap year between high school and Boston College if you are not sure about your career path. Maybe your dreams of studying abroad never happened due to the pandemic or taking a gap year. You can explore other options, such as doing an internship or participating in a research project.

Learn more about Post Grad Service Opportunities at a panel on October 26, 6pm in the Heights Room. This event is open to all students, and you can attend if you want to learn more about Post Grad Service Opportunities. You can also find out how to get involved and what opportunities are available. The panel will be led by experts in the field, and you can ask them questions about the programs and their experiences. The event is free to attend, and you can learn more about the opportunities available to you.

Need a little extra help in class? Don't wait! Visit the Connors Family Learning Center. The center is available to all students who need extra help with their coursework. You can visit the center during its open hours or schedule an appointment to receive help with your coursework. The center is staffed by experienced tutors and counselors who can help you with your coursework. The center is open during the school year, and you can visit the center during its open hours or schedule an appointment to receive help with your coursework.

Want to apply your management skills to a start-up setting in a rebounding city? Take a look at Venture for America. The program offers placements in different cities around the country, where you can apply your management skills to help drive growth and development. The program is open to all students, and you can apply if you want to learn more about management in a start-up setting. The program is open to all students, regardless of their major, and you can apply if you want to learn more about management in a start-up setting.

All classes on Tuesday, October 12 will operate on a Monday class schedule. This means that you will have extra time on Tuesday to prepare for your Wednesday classes. You can also use this extra time to study for your upcoming exams. The extra time on Tuesday will be beneficial for students who need more time to prepare for their classes.

The CSOM minor advisor, Ally Galati, holds drop-in hours every Wednesday 10am-12pm and 1-3pm in Fulton 315. Stop by then to meet her or send her an email at alg26@bc.edu. You can also visit the Management Minor Advising Google Site to learn more about the minor.

The University Fellowships Committee has options for research and other leadership opportunities. The application deadline is Friday at noon. You can apply if you want to learn more about these opportunities. The University Fellowships Committee is open to all students, regardless of their major, and you can apply if you want to learn more about these opportunities.

WIB will be holding a fundraiser at Playa Bowls. Stop by and mention Women in Business to support the club. Pizza will be served — all are welcome. You can also RSVP here for more details. WIB is a student organization that promotes gender equality in the workplace. They offer various events, such as panel discussions and workshops, to help students learn about gender equality in the workplace.

We hope to see your name! Be prepared to hear from inspiring women. The goal of WIBcast is to share the experiences and stories of women in the workplace in a relatable and honest way. Be prepared to hear from inspiring women. You can also RSVP here. WIBcast is open to all students, regardless of their major, and you can attend if you want to learn more about gender equality in the workplace.

We hope to see your name! Be prepared to hear from inspiring women. The goal of WIBcast is to share the experiences and stories of women in the workplace in a relatable and honest way. Be prepared to hear from inspiring women. You can also RSVP here. WIBcast is open to all students, regardless of their major, and you can attend if you want to learn more about gender equality in the workplace.

You can apply to be an RA! Apply to be a Resident Assistant and learn more about this role. You can apply if you want to learn more about this role. You can apply if you want to learn more about this role.

The Elevator Pitch Competition is back! All you need is an idea to apply and a 60 second pitch. Everyone is welcome to join, no matter what your major or background is. This is a great way to challenge yourself and push yourself to pitch to industry experts. You can apply if you want to challenge yourself and pitch to industry experts.

Have you heard about crypto but want to know more? Join us for a panel discussion about crypto. The event will be a great opportunity for anyone who has heard about crypto and wants to learn more about it. You can RSVP here if you want to learn more about crypto.

RSVP
Here's what's happening in the Boston College Carroll School of Management.