Interested in Investment Banking or Consulting?
If you wait until fall to prepare, you will not have sufficient time. Sign up for office hours with Raffi:

*Raffi Grinberg is a former Bain & Company management consultant. He’s also written the published math textbook The Real Analysis Lifesaver, worked as a product manager at Vanguard as well as a startup, and built the financial education app DollarsEd. Raffi currently consults for leading EdTech companies and higher ed organization.

- Management Consulting
  Some consulting companies recruit sophomore spring for leadership events that take place in sophomore summer. These are excellent opportunities to get a foot in the door (and a good chance of an offer) before the official junior internship recruiting, which can be extremely competitive. Many of these opportunities involve case interviews. Whether you plan to apply to one of these or just to the junior internship, now is the time to start preparing! In order to have a decent chance, most people need to practice out-loud case interviews 20-30 times. You can learn more about case interviews and how to prepare here. Then, you can sign up for a mock case interview with Raffi here.

- Investment Banking
  Many investment banks begin recruiting for junior internships at the end of sophomore summer, and some are now starting to recruit during sophomore spring. In addition to standard behavioral interviews, many banks use technical interviews. These require not only a decent understanding of accounting and finance, but also some knowledge of the format itself: the types of questions that are frequently asked, the level of depth they want, the most common mistakes... Now is the time to start preparing. You can sign up for a mock interview with Raffi here.

You also have access to the Breaking Into Wall St. Guide at a significant discount. See these instructions for the download. Go to checkout page using this link: https://ym931.infusionsoft.com/app/orderForms/Investment-Banking-Interview-Guide Fill out the form on this page copy and paste the discount code BC-BIWS-IBIG-2017 into the Promo Code field to make the product $25.00, enter Credit Card information ($25 will be charged). ModernGuild Business Accelerator

The ModernGuild Business Accelerator is a unique opportunity for undergraduates to build a strong foundation in the wide worlds of consulting and finance. Accelerator graduates emerge with an expansive network of peers and mentors, a deep understanding of their industry of choice, and the technical skills required to conquer it. We partner with large consulting firms and banks (including Barclays, Credit Suisse, Deloitte, JPMorgan Chase, Macquarie, Moelis, Nomura and PWC) to sponsor business-curious students through 4-week, all-online training programs, which culminate in a guaranteed interview with your sponsoring company. To date, 86% of our program grads have accepted an offer within 3 months of completion, and many of them knew little about these industries when they got started – we value curiosity and motivation.

The Accelerator is currently offered across two industry tracks — consulting and finance — at no cost whatsoever (at any point, really) to the student. We’ve designed it this way as part of our social mission to expand access and empower students in their career searches, regardless of their backgrounds. Students may participate from anywhere provided they have internet access and are only expected to commit 5 hours/week to their experience, which means you are welcome to enroll on top of another internship, summer job, or classes. Underclassmen of any major are eligible.

To start your application, please visit modernguild.com. The final deadline for Summer 2018 Accelerators is March 1st at 11:59pm EST.
