MassChallenge was founded with a singular purpose - to make it as easy as possible for entrepreneurs to launch and grow new ventures. MassChallenge co-founders John Harthorne and Akhil Nigam were working as strategy consultants at Bain & Company during the global economic recession in 2008. It was at this time that John and Akhil envisioned a creative, inspired society in which everyone is empowered and has the resources to maximize their impact. In 2010, John and Akhil launched the not-for-profit MassChallenge to create a global movement to support entrepreneurship. With a proven no-strings attached model and global reach, MassChallenge works to reprioritize impact and to put value creation at the heart of the global economy.

Food For All is an app aimed at reducing food waste and helping to feed the community in the process. Restaurants partner with Food For All and post meals on the app for at least 50% off in order to bring customers in during the slow hours business to clear inventory and avoid throwing perfectly good food away!

FINANCE DEPARTMENT REGISTRATION

As we prepare for registration, the Finance Department is committed to addressing every student's need and situation as best as possible and in as timely a manner as possible. Since finance classes are in very high demand and registration time slots are randomly assigned by the University, the Department administrators in Fulton 330 manage the official waitlist for all finance classes once they have closed. As sections fill up, the department does its due diligence by checking degree audits to, for example, ensure pre-requisites are met and avoid duplicate registration.

Students are encouraged to stop by the Finance Department to be placed on the official waitlist once their pick time has passed and the class is closed. We remind students to register for any open section of a class at their pick time if the class is needed. Finance professors do not keep separate waitlists; the official waitlist is kept by the finance department administrators.

The Finance Department’s doors are always open to any student who has questions about courses or registration. Our hours are M-F from 9-5pm in Fulton 330. Students are also welcome to email the finance department (findept@bc.edu) with any questions.

The Theology core has changed!

If you still need to take the Theology core requirements, you will see the offerings have changed beginning in the fall 2019. See details on their website: https://www.bc.edu/content/bc-web/schools/mcas/departments/theology/undergraduate/core-in-theology.html

If you have already completed your Theology core, you will still have fulfilled the requirements through your previous Theology core classes.

A Note about Strategic Management:

There will be more sections offered in the fall semester of your senior year, so it is recommended you take it in the fall as you will have more options for offerings.
Going into Consulting?

Consulting Communications Fall Course (BCOM368801)

This fall, take advantage of Professor Rita Owens' practical class, Communication for Consultants, covering the materials you'll create as a consultant and the culture you'll experience.

You'll learn about communications during all phases of an engagement and the best ways you can ensure your success as a new consultant. Expect guest speakers from industry. Past guest speakers have included management consulting recruiters, senior consulting managers, independent consultants, and high-level clients. Seats are available to rising juniors and seniors in all schools. Contact Professor Owens for more information (rita.owens@bc.edu).

New Course: Business Applications of Blockchain and Cryptocurrency

The objective of this course is to introduce the business of blockchain - a technology that has the potential to drastically alter the way value is stored, exchanged, shared and distributed. It is the backbone of the next iteration of the Internet: "Web 3.0" or "The Internet of Value". This course doesn't require any technical knowledge or prior knowledge of the subject, and is designed to give students a foundational knowledge of blockchain technology and a familiarity with the basic principles that govern blockchain protocols. Students will obtain a fluency in the terms and concepts required to understand how this powerful technology works. Most importantly, students will study real-word applications of the technology, which will range far beyond blockchain’s original use case (cryptocurrency) and hear from a number of influential guest speakers who are using or investing in blockchain technology at their companies today. Students who complete the course will understand blockchain and cryptocurrency’s game-changing potential, be able to separate fact from hype, and be effective leaders in the space. Taught by Bennett Collen, BC grad and founder of blockchain startup, Cognate. Questions? Reach out to samir@bc.edu.

Barclays Event for Intern Recruiting: After the Bell

Thursday, April 18, 2019 in the New York City Office

Barclays invites you to participate in an afternoon of interactive learning and networking with senior leaders from our Equities division. After the Bell was established to bring a greater understanding of the equity capital markets to current students. In this session, you will have the unique opportunity to learn about basic stock options and related trading concepts from real practitioners. The afternoon will be led by Nicholas Dovidio, CFA® charterholder. Following the program, students will meet several members of the Barclays Equities team at the closing networking reception. This event is open to all current sophomores and juniors. Capacity is limited. Kindly register your interest by completing the form on the registration page. Please register your interest by Thursday, April 11 to be considered for attendance. We will confirm all selected attendees. If your attendance is confirmed, you will receive a notification prior to the event.

Internship Opportunity: STEER Partners

Opportunity to join a boutique consulting firm that works with leading Private Equity firms and mid-market companies in areas of transaction support and growth strategy. We are looking for analytical and intellectually curious candidates to join our firm.

The role of an Intern is as follows:

- Comfort with analytical and pragmatic approaches to solving business issues
- Execution of primary and secondary research to analyze niche industry segments
- Participation in case / project planning and insight generation
- Developing and designing primary research (surveys - both phone and web based) and familiarity with researching secondary sources(analyst reports, industry and government sources of data, etc.)
- Familiarity with MS Office - Excel analysis (pivot tables, market modeling, regression analysis etc.) and PowerPoint (slide creation and presentation)
- Ability to think strategically
- Participation in firm building activities (recruiting, mentoring, marketing, publishing of white papers, etc.)

Our work at STEER Partners is primarily project based, with project timelines typically lasting 3-4 weeks; because of this we are looking for quick learners that have shown strong time management skills. Additionally, the work we do is Microsoft Office based (primarily Excel and PowerPoint), so this is another skill that we look for in each candidate that we assess. The ideal candidate would have a couple past internship experiences in which he/she has exhibited these skills; work in adjacent industries (consulting, private equity, etc.) is another positive, although certainly not a requirement.

Please submit resumes to thayes@steerpartnersllc.com

AMA Announcement

The Carroll School of Management (CSOM) would like to announce the reestablishment of the Boston College collegiate chapter of the American Marketing Association (AMA) effective with the Fall 2019 semester. This collegiate chapter will be affiliated with both the National AMA organization and the Boston chapter of the AMA. The aim of the AMA Boston College chapter is to expose member students who are committed and passionate about a marketing career to industry professionals, organizations, and events that will further their Boston College educational experience.

Membership is open to all marketing majors and minors, plus any member of the Marketing Academy of Boston College (MABC) that has been a member in good-standing in that organization for one complete academic year. The AMA student chapter dues are $50 per year. The CSOM Marketing department will reimburse to student founder members, $15 of the annual membership fee for academic year ’19/’20. In addition, BC chapter members who wish to join the Boston regional chapter of the AMA (which is recommended) may do so for an additional $10 per year. A BC chapter president has been appointed for year 1, with additional officer elections to follow in the Fall of 2019.

If interested in becoming a founding member of the Boston College chapter of the AMA, please contact Faculty designate, John Fisher, (Fulton 452A) at fisherjs@bc.edu or Chapter President, Ms. Jennifer Downing at downinjf@bc.edu by April 19th for more information and application details.

Join the Bike BC E-board

BikeBC is a free, student-run bike share program for Boston College. We organize group rides throughout the Boston area, conduct bicycle safety and repair clinics. Bike BC executive board is currently looking to add five additional members. Throughout the next semester, these five members would participate and contribute to assisting the board in all aspects of the club. It will provide you with an opportunity to experience the challenges, excitement, and camaraderie of life at one of the biggest campus environmental organizations. You will understand Bike BC’s vision, mission and how it operates.

Social Chair: Responsible for generating content for Bike BC Instagram and Facebook accounts, gathering photos and videos from on-campus events and operations developments (i.e. bike shipments), and creating visuals.

Chief Technology Officer (new position): Responsible for generating analytical reports based on past ridership data and presenting technological solutions to streamline the operations of the bike-share program through GPS tracker implementation and app development.

Public Relationship Chair: Responsible for maintaining rider membership, handling community queries about the bikeshare, and overseeing the logistics of all club social events including safety training sessions. Also, this position will entail coming up with ideas for programming and coordinating with appropriate collaborators.

Operations:

Director of Logistics: Responsible for handling all communications with bike suppliers, mechanics, and library staff to schedule shipments, maintenance checkups, and bike rollouts. He/she will also be responsible for maintaining an updated log of all inventory in Bike BC’s various storage locations.

Director of Group Rides: Responsible for planning and personally leading group bike rides around BC and in Boston. He/she must demonstrate strong biking ability and knowledge of road rules for bicycles.

Apply here by April 4th!
