

BOSTON COLLEGE
Lynch School of Education and Human Development

Applied Psychology and Human Development Minor
For CSOM, CSON, MCAS students only

The Applied Psychology and Human Development minor consists of 18 credits in the Lynch School. Two courses (6 credits) are required and the remaining four courses (12 credits) are electives to be selected from applied psychology courses.

Required Courses (6 credits)	Credits	Notes
One Developmental Applied Psychology course: APSY 1030 Child Growth and Development OR APSY 2041 Adolescent Psychology OR APSY 3244 Adult Psychology	3
One Contextual Applied Psychology course: APSY 1031 Family, School and Society OR APSY 6348 Culture, Community and Change OR APSY 6397 Social Issues and Social Policy OR APSY 3310 Contemporary Issues in Applied Psychology and Human Development	3	APSY 3310 restricted to Seniors APSY 6348, 6397 restricted to Juniors/Seniors

Electives (12 credits)	Credits	Notes
Four additional APSY course. Please consult the Course Information and Schedule for offerings	3 credits/course	Please note that some courses have pre-requisites; plan accordingly.

Declaration of Minor: Students may declare the minor in the Office of Undergraduate Student Services, Campion Hall 104.