Summer 2019

Faculty-led programs and summer internships
for professional, academic and personal growth

Each year, approximately 300 students participate in Boston College (BC) summer faculty-led programs and internships, allowing them to extend their learning on campus to an overseas destination while earning academic credit and building critical skills. Program offerings represent a range of academic subjects from art history to science in geographic settings spanning from Santiago to Hong Kong.

Why go abroad during the summer?

- Fulfill requirements in your major/minor/core
- Earn grades toward your GPA
- Gain cultural competency and skills employers are looking for
- Explore a new culture with a BC professor, in a small class setting
- Fit an international experience alongside academic year commitments on campus
- Go abroad as early as the end of freshman year and any time before senior year
- No GPA minimum requirement

“What really sets my experience apart from those of dozens of other applicants is the fact that I interned in a foreign country. It shows that I can adjust to new and different environments well. It also demonstrates my ability to communicate and work with people from very different backgrounds.”
