RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

2016- Present

Graduate Research Assistant

Supervisor: Margarita Teran-Garcia, PhD; Angela Wiley, PhD

Project Name: Abriendo Caminos

Human Development and Family Studies, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign

Research: This study provides a 6-week psychoeducational intervention to prevent childhood obesity by promoting nutritional knowledge, physical activity, and interpersonal relationships.

Tasks: Facilitate 6 sessions with Latino families regarding behaviors that promote healthy interpersonal relationships. Collect primary data from families post-assessment and at six month follow-up. Follow-up promotoras (health workers) to ensure consistent community training. Plan and develop monthly meetings with promotoras to ensure wellbeing and to address concerns. Aid in the development of community activities led by the promotoras.

2015- Present

Principal Investigator

Project Name: Understanding Feeding Patterns and Practices among First Generation Latina Mothers and Families.

Research: This study focuses on understanding feeding patterns among first generation Latina mothers and how these can play a role in the development of childhood obesity.

Tasks: Train, organize, lead, and manage a team of four researchers that include two undergraduate and two graduate students. Schedule individual and group meetings to discuss the development of the project, conduct data analysis, and develop dissemination approaches.

2013- Present

Research Project Coordinator

Supervisor: Karen M. Tabb, PhD

Project Name: Mood Registry Study

School of Social Work, University of Illinois, Urbana- Champaign

Research: This research focuses on the determinants of health and mental health during the antenatal and postnatal periods.

Tasks: Examine determinants of health and mental health during the antenatal and postnatal periods. Collect primary data and informed consents from mothers in a Public Health setting in Champaign-Urbana. Update the research database with the data gathered from electronic medical record systems. Train and mentor undergraduate students on the project and data. Mentor undergraduate students on the preparation of a manuscript and poster presentation for the Undergraduate Research Symposium. Prepare manuscripts from data collected.

2016-2017

Research Coding Team Coordinator

Supervisor: Kelly Bost, PhD

Project Name: STRONG Kids 2: Protective Parents Subproject
Department of Human Development and Family Studies, University of Illinois, Urbana- Champaign

Research: This study aims to investigate the different parent-child interactions that take place during mealtimes to determine how these influence children's self-regulation.

Tasks: Trained and managed one undergraduate and one graduate student on video coding. Held weekly meetings with research assistants to go over video coding reliability. Observed and coded 120 mealtime videos for chaotic interactions between parents and children. Carried out data entry.

2011- 2013

Graduate Research Assistant

Supervisor: Lissette Piedra, PhD

Project Name: Vida Alegre

School of Social Work, University of Illinois, Urbana- Champaign

Research: This research focuses on the implementation of the group "Vida Alegre" with first generation Latina mothers suffering from depression.

Tasks: Implemented and evaluated the group "Vida Alegre" with first generation Latina mothers suffering from depression. Facilitated five groups in Spanish using Cognitive-Behavioral Therapy among Latina mothers with depression. Screened participants before the group started. Gathered qualitative and quantitative data from all the groups.
