

The BOISI CENTER for

RELIGION and AMERICAN PUBLIC LIFE

A MATTER OF CONSCIENCE

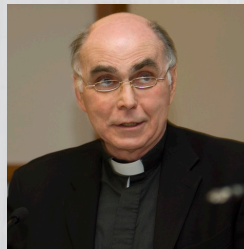

Religious Exemptions and the Healthcare Debate

The vigorous religious opposition to recent healthcare reform efforts has highlighted the divisive nature of birth control, abortion and end-of-life care in American public life. How should healthcare providers, from individual pharmacists and physicians to large medical institutions, balance respect for personal conscience with professional responsibility? Join our distinguished panel of medical, legal and religious leaders for a robust conversation on the ethics of conscience in the healthcare debate.

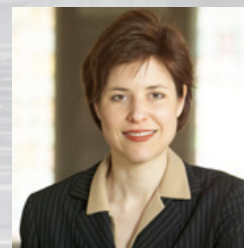

Michael Greene, M.D.

*Chief of Obstetrics, Massachusetts General Hospital
Professor of Reproductive Biology, Harvard Medical School*

Rev. J. Bryan Hehir

*Professor of Religion and Public Life, Harvard University
Secretary for Health and Social Services, Archdiocese of Boston*

Melissa Rogers

Director, Center for Religion & Public Affairs, Wake Forest University Advisor, White House Office of Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships

Tuesday, April 13, 5:15 p.m.
Higgins Hall, Room 310, Boston College

SPONSORED BY THE BOISI CENTER FOR RELIGION AND AMERICAN PUBLIC LIFE AT BOSTON COLLEGE.
FOR MORE INFORMATION, CALL 617-552-1860, OR VISIT WWW.BC.EDU/BOISI.