We are pleased to be continuing our Distinguished Speaker Series, which features leading scholars from the country’s top universities discussing their cutting edge research and engaging conversations with our corporate partners.

Nick Bloom
William D. Eberle Professor of Economics, Stanford University
Professor Bloom will share his latest research study of 15,000 Americans that investigated whether, how, and why working from home will stick after COVID-19.
Tuesday, September 14, 2021 at 12:00PM EST

Rob Cross
Professor of Global Leadership, Babson College
Professor Cross will share ways to leverage organizational network analysis to optimize return-to-office strategies.
Wednesday, October 27, 2021 at 2:00PM EST

Rebekah Levine-Coley
Professor, Applied Developmental & Educational Psychology, Boston College
Professor Levine-Coley will review the impact of COVID-19 on mental health and offer insights into the future direction of mental health in the workplace.
Thursday, October 28, 2021 at 11:00AM EST

Robert Livingston
Lecturer in Public Policy, Harvard Kennedy School
Professor Livingston will join Jennifer Sabatini Fraone for a conversation about systemic racism in the workplace.
Thursday, October 28, 2021 at 2:15PM EST

Glen Kreiner
Professor of Management, University of Utah
Professor Kreiner will explore the negotiation of work and family through an identity lens as we anticipate the development of a new workplace.
Thursday, November 18, 2021 at 12:00PM EST

Iesha Berry, Diana Cruz Solash, and Michele Meyer-Shipp
Chief Diversity Officer, Slalom; VP, Inclusion, Diversity & Equity, Vertex Pharmaceuticals, and Talent & Inclusion Strategist & Consultant
The Evolving Diversity Executive Role: Lessons Learned and Vision for 2022 and Beyond.
Wednesday, December 15, 2021 at 12:00PM EST

Register for these events here.
DISTINGUISHED SPEAKER SERIES

Peter Cappelli
George W. Taylor Professor of Management, The Wharton School at UPenn
Professor Cappelli will present on The Future of the Office: Here’s What’s Truly Changing About Work based on research from his new book.
Wednesday, January 26, 2022 at 1:00PM EST

Alison Koslowski
Professor of Social Policy, University College London
Professor Koslowski will share her insights on Parental Leave in Global Perspective: The Dynamics of Culture and Policy.
Thursday, February 17, 2022 at 12:00PM EST

Caitlyn Collins
Assistant Professor of Sociology, Washington University in St. Louis
Professor Collins will be sharing insights from her book Making Motherhood Work: How Women Manage Careers and Caregiving.
Wednesday, March 23, 2022 at 1:00PM EST

Robin Ely
Professor of Business Administration, Harvard Business School
Professor Ely will present Kanter-Award winning research on gender inequality and work-family.
Wednesday, April 13, 2022

Rohini Anand
Senior Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Advisor, Rohini Anand LLC
Dr. Anand will share insights from her new book Leading Global Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion: A Guide for Systemic Change in Multinational Organizations
Thursday, April 14, 2022

Leslie Hammer
Professor of Psychology, Portland State University
Professor Hammer will present research on the role of manager empathy and support for wellbeing in the workplace.
Thursday, April 14, 2022

Anne Bardoel
Professor of Management, Swinburne University of Technology
Professor Bardoel will discuss research on and insights on employee wellbeing from a global perspective.
Wednesday, May 18, 2022 at 4pm EST

Register for these events here.