CALL FOR PAPERS

The editorial board of Studies in Christian-Jewish Relations, a peer-reviewed journal, invites submissions for its current and future volumes. SCJR publishes scholarship on the history, theology, and contemporary realities of Jewish-Christian relations and reviews new materials in the field, providing a vehicle for exchange of information, cooperation, and mutual enrichment in the field of Christian-Jewish studies and relations.

Interested authors are encouraged to contact the editors in advance. Papers should be submitted through the journal's website.

All papers will be subject to peer-review before acceptance for publication.

SCJR is included in the following indexes: ATLA Religion Database; EBSCO's Academic Search Complete (ASC), Historical Abstracts, America: History and Life, and Humanities International Index; Index to Jewish Periodicals; ProQuest Religion Database; and RAMBI (Index of Articles on Jewish Studies).

Special CFP for Vol. 14 (2019)

In the Spring 2018 issue of Communio, emeritus Pope Benedict XVI published a response to the Commission of the Holy See for Religious Relations with the Jews' 2015 statement, ""The Gifts and the Calling of God are Irrevocable" \(Rom 11:29\): A Reflection on the Theological Questions Pertaining to Catholic-Jewish Relations on the Occasion of the 50th Anniversary of Nostra Aetate \(No. 4\)." Recently made available in official English translation, Benedict's essay, entitled "Grace and Vocation Without Remorse: Comments on the Treatise De Iudeis," is a sophisticated presentation worthy of scholarly attention, both because of its content and the identity of the author.

Studies in Christian-Jewish Relations invites the submission of articles that engage with Benedict's essay and one or more of the issues he raises. Essays that build from his points to make further constructive contributions to Jewish-Christian relations are also welcome.

The deadline for submissions is September 1, 2019.
