

Women's Collaborative of Boston College

Our mission is to facilitate the participation of women in the University social and political environment and create additional opportunities for women on campus.

All current faculty and staff members of the Boston College community are welcome to join the Collaborative.

The Women's Collaborative

of Boston College

A network of women sharing experiences and resources, career and family concerns, and a desire for a collective voice in the community.

THE WOMEN'S COLLABORATIVE OF BOSTON COLLEGE

Candy O'Terry, President and Co-founder of Boston Women in Media & Entertainment

We meet monthly during the academic year. Lunch is often provided at the monthly meetings, during which we discuss issues of importance to women in the BC community and bring informative and energizing speakers to the meeting for discussions of relevant issues from nutrition to aging parents, diversity, flex time, women's safety, and more.

We strive to:

- Create a campus culture that is sensitive to issues important to women,
- Increase the visibility of women's issues and challenges,
- Develop strategies to help women advance in their careers,
- Improve female representation in underrepresented areas of the workforce, and
- Recognize the accomplishments of women on campus.
